NEW BOILER HOUSE FOR BLEACHERY CO.

Big Improvement for the Lowell Bleachery—Smoke Nuisance to be Overcome by New Plant—Prosperity Boom Ahead

The Lowell Bleachery company, in order to comply with the law relative to eliminating the smoke nuisance, has decided to build a new boiler house of modern construction with a boiler capable of developing 1000 horse power and to be provided with a mechanical stoker that will do away almost entirely with smoke from the chimneys.

The old power plant will be retained for possible emergencies. The work will be done under the direction of Engineer John A. Stevens.

The prosperity of the company makes this improvement possible and the present outlook indicates a coming period of great prosperity.

OUR EDUCATIONAL NEEDS

Discussed at Banquet Tendered by Daniel Swan to Alumni of High School

Mr. Daniel Swan gave a banquet last night to the executive committee of the Lowell High School Alumni association at Yale Chambers, in Newmarket street. It was a very interesting meeting and a discussion of the school house and Lowell's educational problem in general was participated in by both men and women.

In the absence of the president, Soton W. Stevens, the first vice president, School Committee member Edmund T. Simpson, called to order at the close of the banquet and read a letter of regret from Mr. Stevens who is in New York.

Mr. Simpson then turned the meeting over to the alumni of the high school might be able to give some definite help in connection with the working out of the school problem.

The first speaker called upon by Mr. Trull was William Orr, member of the state board of education. Mr. Orr, speaking of vocational education, said that when it first came to the front there was some question as to what effect it would have on high school attendance and he said there has been sufficient trial to prove that the vocational school does not draw away from the high school. From statistics furnished in the report of the state board, he showed that of the 1,105,000 pupils in the so-called secondary schools, less than one-tenth are following classical courses. Also, that the high schools have grown three times the growth of the population; and so far as can be seen that growth is likely to continue.

He said that a large proportion of the pupils are going into vocational schools. He told of the growth of the Springfield high school of which he was at one time the principal. He was glad, he said, that there was an alumni association to assist in solving the problems here.

"In building up the system of secondary education, he said, local conditions must always be taken into consideration. Some of the questions to be taken into account are, shall there be one or several high schools? Shall there be one large cosmopolitan high school, which provides many courses, or shall there be several schools, and there is the question of segregation of the sexes, either in different schools or within the school. Personally, he said, while appreciating some of the difficulties, he was greatly impressed with the advantages of having the boys and girls associated in the work of the high school. Some cities have tried the plan of having several junior and senior high schools, the high school age running from 12 to 13 years. Another plan is a central grammar school, affording a transition from the elementary to the high school, that has some advantages. But, he said, no one is able, at our present stage of development, in educational progress, to lay down anything hard and fast. It is well to have the judgment of all the people concerned brought to bear upon the problem.

P. F. Sullivan, president of the Bay State Street Railway Co., said there was never such a demand for trained minds as there is today. This demand is not so much for people to go into the profession, as into business activities and it is a duty not only to the community but to the country as a whole, to train the young. Mr. Sullivan said that so far as the local situation is concerned he was willing to help out to the limit if necessary.

He said that immigration is an important factor in Lowell and that if we had district high schools the problem would be a serious one, because

DEMANDS RETIREMENT OF TAMMANY BOSS

Resolution Adopted by National Democratic Club Demands That Charles F. Murphy Quit as Leader—Friends Denounce Action

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Friends of Charles F. Murphy, whose retirement as leader of Tammany Hall is demanded in a resolution adopted last night by the National Democratic club, today announced their intention of appealing to the board of governors of the club on the ground that the vote and nay vote was illegal.

Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, denounced the action of Edward F. O'Dwyer, president of the club, in refusing to put the question to a rising vote, as "the worst instance of boss rule I ever saw."

The whole proceeding was illegal, Smith declared. It was also announced that another meeting of the club probably will be called and an attempt made to rescind the action taken last night or declare it illegal.

The club's bye-laws forbid action on state or municipal politics.

The full membership of the club is 725. The board of governors consists of 24 men, most of them independent democrats.

society at Washington, D. C. Quirigua, he says, was one of the older centers of the great Maya civilization, which flourished in southern Mexico, Guatemala, and northern Honduras during the first 15 centuries of the Christian era.

"Judging from the dated monuments which were erected in its several courts and plazas, this ancient American metropolis was abandoned during the first half of the 6th century A. D." writes the explorer. "Towards the close of the 6th century the Mayas moved out from the older centers of their civilization in the south and migrated northward into Yucatan. Here in the stress of colonizing a new and unfamiliar land the memory of their former homes gradually faded, until Quirigua, along with many another southern city, became only a memory, a tradition. Finally, long before the discovery of America, even the tradition of its former existence had passed from the minds of men."

"The exterior of one of the buildings recently unearthed," says Mr. Morley, "was decorated with a curious sculptural mosaic. This design, a variation of the humorous head motive found throughout the Maya area, occurs at each of the four corners and in the middle of the back and side walls."

"In this particular example," he continues, "the incisor teeth are as prominent as Col. Roosevelt's, and the first visitors who saw the head immediately called it the original Roosevelt grin. Under this name it came rapidly spread, until it became the chief point of tourist interest in the ancient city."

But for the enterprise of a well known corporation interested in fruit cultivation, the ruins might have remained uncovered for centuries more. The company purchased a large tract of land in this vicinity for a banana plantation, and through an arrangement with the School of American Archaeology, the systematic study of the ruins was undertaken. During the centuries that had elapsed since its abandonment a dense tropical vegetation had covered the city, overthrowing its temples and palaces and reducing them to shapeless mounds of fallen masonry, writes Mr. Morley.

"The jungle had won its way into the different courts and plazas; and these public squares, once teeming with the life of a populous community, had become the haunt of the tiger, peccary, monkey, ant-eater and the infinite host of the tropical forest. The jungle had again reclaimed its own. As the work of excavating proceeded these gradually developed from this mound of earth and fallen stone the ground plan of what had originally been an imposing temple, 105 feet long and 29 feet wide."

More than 350 hieroglyphics have been discovered, but of these only about 60 have been deciphered and all of these deal with some phase of the calendar. As a result, "the more human side of this great aboriginal civilization, its rise and fall, still remains a sealed book."

"So far as the possibilities of the site are concerned, the group at Quirigua may be regarded as having been little more than scratched," concludes Mr. Morley. "Meanwhile, in the deep twilight of a tropical jungle the crumbling remains of this once proud city lie forgotten, its builders unknown, and its very name lost in oblivion—a melancholy commentary of its vanished glory."

LOWELL RAISED $8,300

For St. Elizabeth's Hospital With Three Parishes Yet to be Heard From—Final Meeting

Two days before the official closing of the campaign conducted throughout the archdiocese to raise $200,000 for the new St. Elizabeth's hospital at Brighton, Lowell turned in the $6000 required as its share to the local campaign headquarters, 7 Rutland building, and not only that but $1300 extra, so that with the personal contributions of Monsignor O'Brien of St. Patrick's and Dr. Keefe of St. Peter's, this city, will be credited with over $8,300 in the final summing up. The total collected will be sent by check to the campaign treasurer, Joseph H. O'Neil, Boston, today, and anything collected from now until Wednesday evening, the official time of closing, will be sent in as a supplementary report.

Interest was keen at the meeting held last evening, as on the preceding day only one parish had reached its allotment, and there was quite a spirit of friendly rivalry. The parish representatives of the several committees were in almost all cases late in arriving as the work of the last day was unusually strenuous and money kept pouring in up to the last minute. When finally the priests in charge of the work began to make their report it became evident that the required amount and more had been reached. Except in the Immaculate Conception and Sacred Heart parishes, all the parishes that reported had reached their allotment, and the two that did not quite reach it felt confident of doing so before Wednesday evening. When the return reached $4000, Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan, executive chairman, gave his personal contribution of $1000, and a check for the same amount was presented by the Oblates of Mary Immaculate of this city.

Parish Returns
The amounts collected up to date in the various parishes are as follows: St. Patrick's, $836; St. Michael's, $800.55; St. Peter's, $775; Sacred Heart, $563; Immaculate Conception, $413.25; St. Margaret's, $399; St. Louis, $360; St. Columba's, $150; Notre Dame de Lourdes, $82. This makes a full or partial report for all the parishes of the city with the exception of three that, by special arrangement, will make their contribution to Boston directly before Wednesday evening. Besides the contribution of Mr. O'Sullivan and the Oblate Fathers, there was also a contribution of $200 to the general city fund last evening from a friend.

Directors Grateful
The priests who directed the work throughout the city declared last evening that from the first there was the greatest enthusiasm in the cause and the responses were ready and generous. The most gratifying feature of the entire campaign was the readiness with which the poor contributed as from the beginning the sum collected daily was swelled considerably by the small subscriptions of those who could spare but little. The directors were also loud in praise of their collectors who did not spare themselves in putting Lowell in the creditable place it holds on the Boston list of parishes. A rising vote of thanks was given last evening to the contributors, the collectors, Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan and Dr. Donehue, who kindly gave the use of his office to the committee during the campaign and to the press.

J. D. Crook Advocates Necessary
Public Improvements Even if Money Must be Borrowed

A meeting of the city planning board was called for 3 o'clock this afternoon but did not materialize until later. The members of the board are, Mayor Murphy, chairman; Jesse D. Crook, secretary; John H. Murphy, secretary of the Lowell board of trade; Charles E. Anderson, secretary of the Trades and Labor council; Walter Bowers, Arthur Genest and Commissioner Donnelly, member ex-officio.

The members were all on hand at 3 o'clock, but the mayor was detained in his office until 3:30. A meeting was held in the public recreation room. It was the second meeting of the board and the mayor asked for suggestions.

Secretary Crook said he was sorry that there had been some criticism of the board before it had had an opportunity to show what it could or would do.

Mr. Crook suggested a committee scheme for the furtherance of the work of the board. He said that planning boards throughout the country had been of great service to various communities by careful study of local conditions. "This is the day of big things," he said, "and we must do big things in the right way." He compared this city to a big, enterprising corporation and such a corporation is always improving its condition.

"If Lowell is to have a standing as a municipality the must make improvements; otherwise she cannot compete with other cities. There has been such a cry of curtailment that it is immediately stated that we cannot afford it, when, as a matter of fact, we could not afford to do without the improvements suggested."

"The field of a spirit of economy is liable to do more harm than good. There is danger of stagnation of business and a great deal of economy preached. It is false economy."

"Lowell is a city of opportunities, but she is unfortunate in having some influential citizens who hold to antiquated economy. We want to get away from it and if we can't get away from it, this board will not be of much assistance to the city as a whole."

"The work of this board if we are to be successful must meet with the approval of the public and to make improvements we must have money."

The borrowing of money eventually means the bringing of money eventually into the city treasury by making wise and necessary improvements. There are many opportunities to be made in Lowell that will result in good financial investments."

Mr. Crook said that the people of Lowell are altogether too scared on the borrowing question; that it is absolutely necessary to borrow in order to advance the best interests of the city.

The following committees suggested by Mr. Crook were voted:

1—Housing, sanitation, water supply and buildings. To this committee the mayor appointed Genest, chairman; Anderson, Donnelly, Murphy and Bowers.

2—Streets, street lighting and sewers. Messrs. Donnelly, Murphy and Bowers.

a commission, and hired a lawyer with a good retainer."

Mr. Connor: "That sign was built in violation of the terms of the permit."

Mr. Crook: "I move that the matter in question be referred to the committee on legislation and laws." It was so voted.

Mr. Genest: "I have a little matter relative to the planning of streets. I want to come in here from outside. They lay out a street, run a plough up and down each side and then sell house lots. Finally a man happens to build his home in a hollow, and residents of the street petition to have the street accepted. But it cannot be accepted unless put to grade, and to do that would entail a very considerable expense to the man who has built his house in the low ground. Of course the real estate man doesn't care, so long as he has made a sale."

J. H. Murphy: "There is a law now that no new street can be laid out unless it is approved by the mayor, the city engineer and the superintendent of streets."

Mayor Murphy: "That matter, Mr. Genest, is up to the people who build their houses."

Mr. Genest: "Those who build should, of course, know the grade of the proposed street."

Mayor Murphy: "If a man builds a house in a new section he, of course, takes chances."

J. H. Murphy: "Mr. Genest wants to protect citizens from the real estate sharks."

The question was rendered to the committee on streets and sewers. Chapter 300, of the acts of 1911, was then read, this governing the acceptance of a street by the mayor, the city engineer and the superintendent of streets."

Mayor Murphy: "If the real estate dealer has to go to the expense of developing the land in any new section he will never develop it."

Mr. Genest: "Many people buy land without knowing anything about the expenses required to put the street to grade."

Mr. Crook: "Many of those real estate men have done much towards the development of suburban districts, nevertheless."

It was then voted to meet once a month, for regular meetings, on the second Monday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. The next meeting will not be held until the second Monday in March.

Adjourned.

TEACHERS ON STRIKE

RIGHTY OF 120 SCHOOLS IN COUNTY OF HEREFORD, ENG. CLOSED BY WALK-OUT

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A strike of elementary school teachers, the first of its kind in the British islands was in full swing today in the county of Hereford. Eighty out of the 120 schools under the jurisdiction of the county council were closed and the teachers declare they will remain closed until they gain their demands which are for a minimum salary of $500 per annum instead of the $450 they are now receiving.

COUNTERFEITERS HELD

NINE MEN ARRESTED IN BOSTON
IN INVESTIGATION OF NEWIES
IN COURT

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Nine foreigners, arrested yesterday at the instigation of newbies who claimed that the North End was being flooded with spurious half dollars, were arraigned on a charge of counterfeiting this afternoon and sent to jail in default of $5000 bail each. When the arrests were made in a raid at 42 Halo street many coins and a number of dies and mallets were captured.

John H. Murphy said that he had noticed a big row sign, which had only recently been placed on top of the building in Central street at the head of Middle street. "Who ought to condemn this practice of allowing such signs to be erected. The permit to put the sign up was never given by the owner of the building, although the tenants agreed. Such a sign is a menace to the general public. In my opinion, the roof is not stout enough to hold it."

Mayor Murphy: "How did this man get the permit, and where?"

Mr. Murphy: "From the public property department."

Mr. Murphy: "When was such permit issued?"

Mr. Murphy: "Jan. 5, inauguration day."

Mayor Murphy: "What would prevent the owner of the building from having the sign taken down?"

Mr. Donnelly: "That was done before I knew anything about it, and I would ask Mr. Connor, inspector of public property, to tell about it."

Mr. Connor: "Mr. Kimball, who put up the sign, came to the office and asked for a permit. I went there and found the roof strong and all right. It is perfectly safe, in my opinion."

Mayor Murphy: "The owners can compel the sign to be taken down, if they don't want it there."

Mr. Anderson: "Do you inspect signs after they have been built?"

Mr. Connor: "Yes, we compel the owner to plan in our office, and if the sign is not built in accordance with the plan, then it has to come down."

John H. Murphy: "The city beautiful committee of the board of trade is going to fight that sign. I want some stand taken to prevent the granting of further permits for roof signs. That sign on the Howe building has been hanging for a year or more, simply because the parties interested appealed from the decision of

Telegraphic Brevities

BERMUDAS, Germany, Feb. 2.—A proposal to continue the freight and stevedore pools between the trans-Atlantic lines until March 1 has been made to the Hamburg-American line by the North German Lloyd, the Red Star and the Holland-American lines. In order to facilitate negotiations between the companies for a settlement of the trans-Atlantic rate war. No reply had been made by the Hamburg-American line up to a late hour today.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Feb. 2.—All of the 11 contractors and road engineers indicted by the Suffolk county grand jury on Jan. 23 on charges growing out of the inquiry into graft, entered pleas this afternoon of not guilty. All furnished the required bonds. The case will be tried in April.

PARKERSBURG, Va., Feb. 2.—The charred bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hopkins of Cincinnati were taken from the Little Kanawha river here today. Yesterday the wreck of gasoline launch was found in the river near Creston.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 2.—Milk dealers were uneasy today because of the failure of Milk Inspector Walter Scott to renew their licenses which automatically expire at midnight tonight. There are 1146 milk dealers in the city and it was said that none had received new licenses. Dealers continuing business without licenses will be liable to arrest.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 2.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. this afternoon informed the secretary of state that it would refuse to honor passes of over one hundred state officials. Similar notice was given by the West Jersey and Seaboard road, which is operated by the Pennsylvania.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—The Boston & Maine R. R. Co. and the Hampden Ry. Corporation filed with the public service commission this afternoon a petition for the approval of a joint operating agreement. Under the terms of the agreement the Boston & Maine will pay the Hampden a yearly rental of $100,000. The lease of the Hampden to the Boston & Maine is to continue indefinitely.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Rock Island continued today the rapid decline which began Saturday owing to the report that the company would be reorganized. Both the stocks and bonds were pressed for sale at the opening. The common fell 2 1/2 to 10 1/2, the preferred 3 points to 16 1/2 and the collateral 1 1/2 to 4 1/2. Weakness of these securities affected the general list which, after an irregular opening, became heavy. Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Reading, Smeltling, Westinghouse, Western Union, American Telephone and U. S. Steel car lost a point each. Blount shot up two points.

A brisk recovery followed the early decline in prices and by noon most of the leading stocks were on a level with the previous close or slightly above. The break in Rock Island securities was the principal factor in the early downward movement. Reports that dividends would be suspended on Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific stock, which is security for the Rock Island collateral bonds, accompanied the slump in all of the old and new Rock Island issues. Pressure was lifted later on the ground that the company was suffering from financial embarrassment. Rock Island stock made up part of their losses and the general list advanced.

The influence in the rally in Rock Island securities was counteracted in the afternoon by weakness of various investment shares. American Telephone, Canadian Pacific and New York Central were under pressure. There was extensive selling here for foreign accounts. London disposed of about 35,000 shares here.

The market closed weak. Undetermined by extensive short covering, the list fell off readily in the last hour when professional pressure was applied more vigorously.

SHOT TO DEATH

Emissary Executed by
Gen. Villa, Leader of Mexican Rebels

JUAREZ, Mex., Feb. 3.—Francisco I. Guzman, who figured prominently in the revolt against President Madero in Mexico City a year ago, was executed in the front yard of a house occupied by General Francisco Villa here yesterday.

Guzman had just come from Havana, where, it was charged, he had been given a secret mission by Felix Diaz to induce General Villa to renounce General Carranza and throw the strength of the revolution to Diaz.

As soon as he heard of the proposal, General Villa gave Guzman a conference and after making sure of the nature of the visit, ordered the messenger shot. Within a few minutes after his arrival Guzman was led out of Villa's room, stood up before an adobe wall, and, with his hands tied and eyes blindfolded, was executed.

BOSTON SCHOOL BOARD PLACES
PART OF RESPONSIBILITY UPON
SUBMASTERS

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Submasters are to share with masters the duties and responsibilities of school administration, according to an order passed by the school board last evening. The board also voted to close the evening schools March 30.

It was the opening of the new school board, Dr. David B. Scannell, succeeding Dr. Thomas P. Leen, whose term expired yesterday. For Dr. Scannell it was a return to familiar duties, as he served on the school board several years ago. George E. Brock was re-elected chairman and Michael H. Corcoran was elected treasurer.

The order relating to the submasters instructs the superintendent to request the master to ascertain what opportunity they can give the submasters to develop their usefulness in the schools.

COUNTY TRUANT SCHOOL REPORT

Supt. Corlew Finds Attendance Falling Off and Wonders Why

New Methods of Teaching and Difficulty of Getting Out Explained

SUPT. RUFUS E. CORLEW

The report of the superintendent of the county training school calls attention to the dwindling attendance at the school, a condition that has come about since the death of former Supt. Warren. Supt. Corlew argues that the assumption that boys are kept too long is not true but that impression prevails not only in Cambridge but in Lowell. Mr. Corlew says:

"One of the most striking facts of the year is the marked reduction in the number of boys. This is largely due to the decided increase in the number leaving the school during the past year. In 1912, 53 boys were paroled or discharged. In 1913, this number was 119, or 66 more than the year before. This is also the largest number ever released during any one year in the history of the institution.

"In addition to this, the number of commitments has been fewer than in former years. In this particular the city of Cambridge furnishes the most extraordinary example. Not a boy has been committed from Cambridge since June 15, 1912, a little more than one year and a half.

"There is a falling off in the attendance that shows the large institution with all its varied equipment almost unnecessary.

The attendance from Cambridge for some years past was as follows:

The record of the city of Cambridge furnishes the chief interest because of the sudden dropping off in commitments. Cambridge shows the following record of number of boys sent: 1909, 21; 1901, 19; 1902, 23; 1903, 24; 1904, 23; 1905, 22; 1906, 31; 1907, 29; 1908, 22; 1909, 14; 1910, 19; 1911, 14; 1912, 1; 1913, 0.

From Lowell
Lowell has always sent the largest number of boys to the school. In 1909 Lowell sent 33; in 1901, 35; 1902, 33; 1903, 28; 1904, 31; 1905, 40; 1906, 29; 1907, 40; 1908, 24; 1909, 12; 1910, 39; 1911, 13; 1912, 17; 1913, 20.

Present Attendance
The report shows that the number of boys at the school on January 1, 1913, was 175 and the number remaining on December 31, 1913, was 91.

Forty boys were committed during the year, six were returned for violation of parole and 33 runaways were returned covering 11 years, 1900 to 1913 inclusive, the following towns in Middlesex county have not sent a single boy to the county training school: Acton, Ashby, Bedford, Boxboro, Burlington, Carlisle, Concord, Dracut, Dunstable, Hopkinton, Lincoln, Littleton, Maynard, Pepperell, Shirley, Stow, Sudbury, Tisbury, Wayland, Westford and Weston.

Recommendations
Supt. Corlew also makes a number of recommendations for improvement at the school including the establishment of a physical director and of a summer swimming pool. He expresses his appreciation of the cooperation of both the Catholic and Protestant clergy at North Chelmsford in the religious training of the boys and also of the many friends who have aided in the maintaining and happiness and success of the school.

Athletes and Athletics

Eddie Murphy is rapidly recovering from his injury and yesterday left Boston on a tour of conquest through the middle west. Murphy hurt his hand on the head of a tough little Steve Kennedy in their bout Christmas day. The "Little of South Boston" will make St. Louis and Chicago his headquarters while away.

The 17-year-old son of the late Mike Murphy, veteran trainer and coach, has all the earmarks of making a really wonderful athlete. He has just entered a Philadelphia high school where he will prepare for Penn. Mike gave his son every advantage which his long experience could afford and it is said that the boy is adapted to most any track or field event.

The Giants and the White Sox played a 5 to 3 tie in Cairo, Egypt, yesterday afternoon. No Sunday baseball isn't barred on the Nile. In spite of the fact that very few of the natives had ever heard of such a game the gate receipts proved satisfactory. The Khedive of Egypt entertained the members of both teams during their stay in Cairo.

Battling Levinsky and Jim Flynn will not battle tomorrow night as Flynn has been taken suddenly sick. The sickness is, perhaps, better to endure than a pounding such as the Illinois slugger passed out to the freshman when last they met. Maybe Flynn was just sick of the match.

The legal status of the boxing game will be fought out at the state house before the legislative committee on Friday night, Jan. 30, were discharged by the court. George Paradis arraigned for the same offense pleaded guilty. After hearing the evidence in this case Judge Brand reserved decision. The three men were arrested Saturday on complaint of Sheriff Stevens.

Secretary Murphy will explain the methods by which the Lowell board succeeded in gaining a large number of new members and his address will be of a very interesting nature to the committee of the local board. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner and will be over at 8 o'clock.

ITCHED FOR 20 YEARS, RESINOL CURED IN 10 DAYS

BALTIMORE, Md., July 10, 1913.—"About twenty years ago both my legs began to itch from ankle to knee. Little pimples came out. The itching and burning was something terrible. I would start to scratch and could not stop. I would even scratch through the skin and that of course would leave a sore which I was compelled to lather."

"I tried several prescriptions and treatments, but received not a particle of benefit—no more than if the treatments were cold water. I then began to have very little faith in anything and of course could do nothing but scratch away."

"After suffering constantly for twenty years, a friend recommended Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. From the very first application, I found relief, and was entirely cured in ten days. The itching and stinging sensations have ceased and my skin is as smooth as a child's." (Signed) Charles Warner, 1123 N. Stricker St.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol for eighteen years and every druggist sells Resinol Soap (25c) and Resinol Ointment (50c and $1.00). Don't be deceived by the useless "substitutes" which are for unscrupulous dealers offering. For free trial, write to Dept. 27, N. Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

that in vogue in New York. It is safe to say that the fans as well as the friends of the game will not forget the date for the hearing.

Harvard and Yale will chase the puck at the Boston Arena next Friday night instead of Saturday as called for by the intercollegiate schedule. It will be the first time that the two hockey teams have clashed and the usual rugged contest which always resulted when the Crimson and Blue got together is looked for. Harvard is the strong favorite.

Regardless of the courts, the boxing commission of New York or the sporting public in general, Bob Fitzsimmons has once more entered the roped arena. His fight with Dan Sweeney in Williamsport, Pa., demonstrated the fact that Robert is not as near passe, despite his years, as some people would have us believe.

There will be two hot basketball contests tonight at the opening of the Boys club in their new quarters on Dutton street. The Lowell Independents will line up against the Quincy Five, composed of such men as Herbie Cote, Paul Clark and Jimmy Grant. The Police and Crescents will crash in the second game. Music will be furnished by the brass band of the 'Truant' school and the entire entertainment will be free. We all wish the Boys' club the greatest of success in their new home.

Tomorrow night the Y. M. C. I. quintet will line up against the National Public company's "quintet" of basketball players at the institute. Those who saw the former contest between these two teams will be sure to be there tomorrow night for the game was a thriller from start to finish.

Red Cross Society to Give Courses to Lowell Railroad Men

It is believed that the new car of the Red Cross society of America, which is going over the entire country, will be in this city shortly and when the car arrives safely and first aid courses of instruction will be given to employees and officials of the railroad here by Dr. Shields and his staff of assistants, who are in charge of the car. It has already been in many cities of the state and committees representing the different divisions of the road have been appointed to study precautionary measures for the safety of transportation and to arrange a system of instruction for the employees of the road in first aid to the injured. The cooperation of the road with the Red Cross National association indicates the desire of the railroad officials to accomplish all in their power to eliminate unsafe railroadings. The system of furnishing the employees of the road with a course of instruction in this branch of public safety methods and administering aid to the injured has been tested on other railroad systems and found to be highly satisfactory.

DEATHS

RIGBY.—Died Feb. 2, in this city, Mrs. Agnes A. Rigby, aged 34 years, 1 month and 21 days, at her home, 13 Seventh avenue. She is survived by her husband, William H. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends are invited without further notice, burial private. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

FUNERALS

GILLOULEY.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary A. Gillouley took place this morning at 9 o'clock from her home, 54 Andover street, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to the Catholic church where a mass of requiem was sung by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence Tighe. O. M. L. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a pillow from her husband, and pieces from the Gillouley family. Mr. and Mrs. John Farrell, Miss Mildred Folger and Miss Mary Charette, Miss Rose Sullivan, employees of the dressing rooms, Route 11, Mr. Bert Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Foster, Miss Jennie Arthur, Miss Emma Charette, Mr. Walter Sharpe of Lawrence, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stanley. The bearers were Bert Mason, James Shannon, William Hunt and John Farrell. At the grave Rev. Fr. ## DEMANDS OF FIRE AND STREET DEPARTMENTS

They Want Much Larger Appropriations Than Last Year—Mayor Murphy Asks for $35,000 Extra on Account of Mothers' Pension Law

If the municipal council could vote themselves all the money asked for in their estimates the tax rate will be made to do a sky rocket stunt. Commissioner Morse wants over $50,000 more than was allowed the street department last year and Commissioner Carmichael will ask for about $10,000 more than was allowed the fire department last year and he will also submit estimates on more motor propelled fire apparatus, including a new car for Chief Saunders. The chief's car went out of commission a few days ago. If cars can be credited with dispositions the chief's car had a tough one. It was bulky and hateful in every way. Unless closely watched and governed it would attempt pole climbing and it didn't make any difference if it was a telegraph pole, light pole or trolley pole. Chief Saunders avers that the thing was contrary enough to be a man and when it comes to consigning it to the junk heap he will approve of the funeral. The car is four or five years old. The chief borrowed the water department's old Buick car and is using it at the present time.

New Motor Apparatus

The new motor apparatus asked for by the fire department will consist of the chief's machine, two trucks and a tractor for the old La France truck that has never been of any particular use to the fire department. This machine was bought by a committee composed of members of the old city government and has always been a misfit. The few times that it was sent out it came back minus bolts or something else and now in order to render it serviceable it will have to be dropped down and made over. The truck is altogether too high and estimates are being prepared on the cost of dropping it, making it over and supplying the tractor. The chances are there will be a strong argument against the re-vamping of this truck; an argument to the effect that it has never been of any service to the city and that the city can get along without it this year as well as last year or any preceding year. If the council should vote for two new motor trucks, one would be placed in Gorham street and the other in one of the two stations in Centralville, either the Fourth street house or the West Sixth street house. Commissioner Carmichael takes as if he would not force the issue relative to the purchase of new motor apparatus. There are two propositions that he will put up to the council and let it go at that. The purchase of the machines constitutes one of the propositions and the retention or dismissal of ten firemen who were appointed by ex-Commissioner Barrett in December of last year, the other.

His proposition relative to the firemen is to submit two estimates. One including the wages of ten men for the year, which would represent about $10,000 and the other dispensing with their services. Mr. Barrett appointed 12 men in December, or late in the year, and two of these have already been let go on the ground that their appointments were not legal. Commissioner Carmichael does not say that the appointment of the other ten men was not legal, but he says the matter is in doubt and he allows that even though their appointments were all right it would not be necessary to continue them in service if their services were not required. The estimate that would include the ten men and continue them along would figure $149,544.48 and the estimate that does not provide for them would figure $140,424.33. This means permanent men. The estimate for call men would show a decrease of $2200 providing the ten regular men were retained, because the extra number of permanent men would reduce the number of call men. Taking all in all it looks as if the council would not favor the retention of the ten permanent men appointed by Mr. Barrett in December, 1913.

The fire department appropriation for 1913 was $157,000 and $4735.46 of that appropriation remained at the end of the year. It was stated that $1000 of the money left over was transferred to the charity department and the rest went back to the city treasury. In discussing estimates and appropriations today, Col. Carmichael said that it was necessary to ask for more money this year in order to be prepared for unforeseen expenses. "You know that under the new law which became operative this year," said the colonel, "we are obliged to get along with the appropriations granted us at the first of the year, the original appropriations. We cannot go back and ask to be helped out during the year and in view of that fact it is well to be on the safe side. I have asked for $195,920.57 and part of that amount is intended for emergencies for there is none of us so wise as to foretell accidents."

Street Department Estimate

The municipal council will meet tomorrow forenoon at 11 o'clock and the council may proceed to consider and discuss the estimates, but the chances are that the estimates will not be taken up for a day or two and when they are taken up there will be no other business before the meeting. It will be absolutely necessary to do a lot of running and it remains to be seen how well the department heads will stand the test of being asked to give opportunities to show how anxious they are to retrench and curtail.

The street department estimate for 1913 was itemized as follows: Streets, $140,000; street watering, $10,000; street lighting, $100,000; sewer maintenance, $15,000; engineering department, $10,000; total, $225,000.

Mr. Morse's estimate for 1914 is itemized as follows: Street maintenance, $150,000; street watering, $10,000; graveling and snow expense, $20,000; lighting streets, $20,000; sewer maintenance, $15,000; engineering department, $10,000; pensions (retired and Haw-rdith), $5000; total, $232,000. To this amount is added the street lighting, $100,000, bringing the total up to or making a grand total of $334,000. The items mentioned in the street department estimate for 1914 that do not appear in the estimate for 1913 are: graveling, lighting streets and pensions. Hereafter the graveling of streets was done by loan, but this year it will have to be done out of the regular street appropriation. This is one excuse for Mr. Morse asking for more money than was expended last year.

More Money for Mayor

Mayor Murphy will ask for $35,000 to take care of the expenses connected with the mothers' pension act and he doubts if $35,000 will cover it. The expense is already $2000 a month and now comes in at the rate of from four to ten a month.

Mayor Murphy says that he will make a personal inspection of all cases that are now being assisted under the new law. The mayor will make three inspections, the first inspection being made by the visitor appointed for that purpose, the second by the superintendent of the charity department and the third by the mayor. The mayor does not say that unworthy cases have crept in, but in order to satisfy himself he will investigate.

The mothers' pension law, in the estimation of members of the municipal council, and others, will develop a big expense and it is not the most popular law ever passed—not by any means. It has been said that the new law puts a premium on the head of the worthless husband and in this respect it is probably all right, and of service to the community, but certain states that have the law are trying to get rid of it.

Brings Bad Results

An idea of the results of the new law is furnished in the Seattle Post Intelligencer and was called to the attention of The Sun man at city hall today. The mothers' pension law was passed by the legislature of the state of Washington within the last six months and the Seattle paper says it has filled the children's homes almost to their limit, through the giving up to institutional charge of the children of unsuccessful pension applicants. Before the passage of the law, this journal states, mothers save to hold their children of the family together, knowing that the law granted an allowance for every child; but when the mothers learned that only those in absolute penury would be granted pensions, the family breaking began. Fraudulent representations and even perjury were detected in a number of cases. Then it was learned, besides, that many mothers who needed and desired aid could not bring themselves to the point of asking for it.

There isn't any reason, however, to believe that the new law will prove so dismal a failure in this city, but you may put it down in your little book of tender recollections that the mothers' pension act will cost the city a vast amount of money and will mean lots of work for whatever department may have it in charge.

Map of Lowell

The National Survey Co. of Portland, Me., has gotten out a new wall map of Lowell. The data for the map was furnished the company by the city engineer's office and City Engineer Kearney is in possession of a blue print or proof of the map, which is a foot by 3½ feet, the scale being about 400 feet to the inch. The city engineer says it will be a very dependable map.

A TONIC FOR THE NERVES

Nervous people who have not yet developed a disease that can be recognized and treated by the medical profession have the greatest trouble in finding relief. Irritation, headache, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, all these discomforts make life miserable and are endured rather than run a doctor's bill without definite hope of recovery.

Every such sufferer should know the danger of such a condition of the nervous system. Nervous debility and even paralysis may easily result if the tone of the nerves is not restored.

The one big fact that brings hope and relief is that the nerves can be restored by building up the blood. It cannot be too often repeated that only through the blood can nourishment and medicine reach the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red and quickly restore vitality and energy to a weak nervous system. A nervous person who gives these pills a trial is almost certain to see good results and, what is more, the benefit will be lasting because the trouble is attacked at its root. Thin blood makes weak nerves. Building up the blood restores the nerve force.

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and write the Dr. Williams Medical Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy of "Diseases of the Nervous System."

LOWELL GIRL MISSING SINCE LAST THURSDAY

Miss Ethel M. Stevens, 17-year-old adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stevens of 244 Concord street, this city, disappeared from home last Thursday and has not been seen since, and the parents fear the young woman is now married, for it was found Saturday night that the young woman and a young man giving the name of Everett A. Lapham of Melrose, had been granted a marriage license by the city clerk in Melrose. The police of the latter city as well as the officials of Boston were notified, but as yet no clue has been found that would lead to the finding of the couple. It is evident that the marriage had been planned by the young couple, for on Monday, Jan. 25, Lapham called at the city clerk's office in Melrose and filed his application for a marriage license. He gave his name as Everett A. Lapham, 21 years of age, and his address 24 Stevens place, Melrose, while the name of the young woman given was Miss Ethel M. Stevens, same address, aged 18, and daughter of William H. Stevens. According to the law the license could not be given out until Saturday, but early Saturday afternoon the young man called at the city clerk's office and inasmuch as no protest had been filed with the clerk the license was issued.

The young woman, according to Mrs. Stevens left her home last Thursday afternoon, saying she was going to Lawrence to meet her father, but instead of going to the down-river city, she boarded a car for Melrose. Mrs. Stevens said the girl will be 18 years of age on July 25. She said the child was adopted when she was nine years of age and she remained with Mr. and Mrs. Stevens ever since. Up to last Thursday she was employed in the glass and tinware department of Nelson's Colonial store.

When she left home Miss Stevens wore a black suit and black hat with white band and white feather, and black shoes. She is a blonde and very pretty. She is about 5 feet and 6 inches in height and weighs about 100 pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are opposed to the marriage because they feel that the girl is too young. They never suspected their daughter would leave them, especially to marry Lapham, for the young man had called at the home on but two occasions, Christmas night and a week ago last night. The girl never said a word about her project, but the parents believe that the plans had been arranged beforehand and that upon his last visit the young man arranged with the girl to have her meet him the following Thursday.

The Melrose and Boston police were notified and they are looking for the girl. "I want the young man arrested," said Mrs. Stevens to the writer, "and I want my daughter returned to me. She cannot marry until she is 21 years of age and until such time I want to keep her with me."

To prevent civil war veterans who are in disagreement with their wives from withholding part of their pensions from their better halves is the last bill that Congressman John Jacob Rogers of this city has introduced into the legislature.

FAKE ADVERTISERS

At last the state of Massachusetts will be asked to consider the advisability of framing laws for the purpose of putting an end to the fraudulent advertising which in one form or another has flooded the public out of thousands of dollars yearly. There are many periodicals which make a specialty of publishing this type of advertisement, and those who have investigated the matter or who have come in touch with the species of liar, personally or otherwise, may readily pick out the promise or representation that is meant to defraud. Even aside from the fake speculative schemes which are the most flagrant and best known instances of this form of dishonesty, there are hundreds of advertised schemes which are deliberately fraudulent in their intent and designed to mislead the ignorant, the unthinking, or the over-confident and over-credulous.

This Massachusetts house bill No. 351, which is called a bill "to regulate advertising," is well intended but seems too broad in its scope and too indefinite in its stipulations to meet the requirements. The bill may also unintentionally be the unconscious means of working injustice for as it reads it not only makes punishable all advertisements which are deliberately and intentionally designed to defraud, but those in which the writers unintentionally make statements that are not strictly true or even those which exaggerate the merits of the advertised commodity slightly. This becomes apparent on perusal of the bill, which reads as follows:

"Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to publish in a newspaper or other periodical or cause to be printed or published thereon, any advertisement containing any false statement which may mislead or deceive any person reading the same; and any advertiser who violates the provisions of this act shall be liable for damages to person or property resulting from the publication of a false statement, as aforesaid."

"Section 2. Violation of the provisions of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than three months for each offense."

This bill would be improved vastly and the danger of resultant injustice removed were the word "knowingly" or the phrase "with intent to mislead" inserted in the first clause. The best intentioned advertiser may sometimes publish some careless or obscure description which in the hands of a business rival could be construed as offending against the above law, were the bill to pass in its present form.

The proposed law is deserving of unreserved commendation in its aim, for the manipulator of dishonest or misleading advertisements has had a gold mine to draw from in public credulity for years. People of Lowell as well as those of other cities in the country have been fleeced out of a great many thousands of dollars by this method, and it is time that the nefarious practice should be regulated legally. With some important changes which shall limit the operation of the law to those who ought to fall under its ban, bill No. 351 ought to become the means of preventing many a separation of cash marks from their money in the state of Massachusetts. It would also protect the legitimate advertiser who now suffers much injury from the misrepresentations of fake advertisers.

THE MONROE HORROR

No writer of sea tales ever drew on facts containing more elements of vivid and varied romance than the many stories of shipwreck that have given tragic interest to the news columns during the winter season. The latest wreck which has caused the sacrifice of two score human lives occurred a few days ago when two steamers met in a dense fog off the coast of Virginia, a spot that has been the scene of many sad sea tragedies in times past. One of the boats that collided recently gave the other a blow that completely disabled her and the stricken vessel, the Monroe, sank in less than ten minutes despite watertight bulkheads and all the other appliances made familiar to landsmen by the Titanic wreck and the much discussed "safety at sea" agitation that is now stirring England and many other foreign countries as well as the United States.

It is not yet certain that either officer in charge was in any way responsible for the collision between the Monroe and the Nantuxet, but whether the accident was avoidable or not, there is a great deal of bitterness and serious accusations as its result. The conditions of the weather and the danger of the coast to navigators would seem to have prompted the exercise of the utmost care, and it is possible that there was some degree of negligence considering the serious effects of the blow, for the crash that sank the Monroe in ten minutes was given by a vessel traveling at a high rate of speed. The lessons of the Titanic which struck an iceberg while traveling in a fog at too great speed have not had the expected effect.

It is discouraging that such serious wrecks happen after the many official hearings on shipwrecks and the laws that have been framed recently, but the application of both phases of the question to the present instance cannot be made until the result of the investigation ordered by the department of commerce is made known. If there is any comforting side to the loss of two score lives in the heavy fog and the icy seas, it lies in the fact that the best traditions of the deep were followed. Discipline was maintained as far as possible and the principle of "women and children first" was observed to the letter in the short space of ten minutes before the black night covered the engulfing sea and its victims.

THE IMMIGRATION BILL

At the recent hearing on the immigration bill now going through congress it was brought out not without elements of humor that the arguments used in favor of restricting immigration are precisely those used in the troublesome times of the past when they were the result of open prejudice. Congressman Murray of Boston quoted from the speeches of politicians of the know-nothing days, to show that the pleas of Congressman Gardner—whose advocacy of immigration restriction in all probability had most to do with his small vote at the last state election—merely repeat the warnings of those of the past against the Germans, the Irish and the other early immigrants who have long since vindicated their admission and done nobly in the upbuilding of this country. Notwithstanding this fact it is expected that the anti-immigration bill will pass the house and senate and go to President Wilson as it went to President Cleveland and Taft. President Wilson cannot do better than follow their good example by vetoing it without delay. When those who favor restriction of immigration by any and all means espouse a method of doing so by wise and just means, it shall be time for its inclusion among the American laws of the future.

GUILTY BUT INSANE

The New York state bar association recently suggested an important change in judicial verdicts which would do away with the travesty on justice frequently involved in the pleas of insanity by which much responsibility for crime is averted. The new verdict in first degree murder cases would read: Guilty but insane. The great advantage of this verdict in cases where insanity is introduced as the defense is that it would do away with the expert testimony which at present may be produced by both prosecution and defense to an almost limitless extent—usually limited by the amount of money available for the purpose. Under the suggested verdict he who has committed crime will be punished, but remembering the "insane" added to the verdict of "guilty" his punishment will be commensurate with his degree of guilt. At the present time the verdict is frequently: "Not guilty on the ground of insanity," and it has had many serious aftermaths in defeating the ends of justice. The "guilty but insane" substitution would do away with the avoidance of the penalty for crime by an appeal to technicalities and it would protect the community far better than the present verdict in such cases.

RENEWAL OF TREATIES

The renewal and extension of arbitration treaties will be one of the most important duties before the senate in the near future, and it is well that it should not be permitted to drag on much longer without attention, for at the present time there are many flies in the ointment concerning our relations with foreign countries. In no instance is the misunderstanding or foreign disaffection serious, but when there are many slight misunderstandings there is liable to be a widening of the breach and really serious complications. The question of a treaty with Russia will be considered but probably without a change in the situation; the renewal of treaties with Great Britain will involve a consideration of the Panama toll; a treaty with Japan will necessitate a discussion of the California animosity to the Japanese; the Mexican situation will have its claims. Conservative settlement of the many difficulties regarding our relations with these and other countries—"Colonias," for instance—would do much to repair our credit before the world. The rest of our dove of peace

PUBLIC MARKET

The public market discussion which has been going on in this city more or less enthusiastically for a long time will be brought to a head soon if the bill to be introduced by Rep. Murphy of this city meets with legislative favor in the house and senate. The bill in question would leave the matter in the hands of the voters under the referendum, and if the citizens register themselves in its favor, the public market would follow as a matter of course. Whatever one may feel about the question, there should be no objection to submitting it to the judgment of the Lowell electorate. Public markets have been established in many important cities of the commonwealth, and without it, and they are being advocated at the present time in many places besides Lowell. Before the bill be placed before the citizens of Lowell there should be ample discussion for and against so that those who may be given an opportunity to vote on it will understand what is meant and vote intelligently.

AS THE PEOPLE SEE IT

The people who own land out Andover street seem to be a unit in trying to put the hospital over on Pawtucketville, while the people of the latter district believe that the Pillsbury site is ideal and should be retained. As for the residents of the Chelmsford street district they are not very particular which site be finally chosen although they believe that when the city council buys a site it should pay for it and have no further haggling on the question. If the matter goes to the people for solution, they will probably do their duty by ratifying the purchase of the Pillsbury site and thus ending a wearisome controversy for which the present municipal council is wholly responsible.

Seen and Heard

Inasmuch as Col. Goethals will not accept the position of police commissioner of the great metropolis, why not Commissioner Brown?

A Texas preacher believes that the girls are sitting their skirts so as to make it easier for them to kneel in church. Let's hope this preacher believes what he preaches.

The latest criticism of the Pillsbury site is from the pen of Capt. White, U. S. (retired). Now let's hear from Supt. Hill Moffatt, L. P. D. (pensioned).

A Polish resident recently was taken into a local hospital with his head incarcerated in several places.

"What happened?" asked the surgeon as he examined the wounds.

"Got hit with five bottles of beer," answered the patient.

Such extravagance! Empty bottles would have answered the purpose just as well.

We are opposed to the suggestion that the city endeavor to procure the High Street Congregational church property as a site for the new high school because of the fact that a couple of newspapermen of our acquaintance attend that church and should it be taken away Heaven only knows where they would finish.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea; put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and sore grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Payson Weston and other feel-and-toe worthies are slower than a Fletcher street car. His pedestrian is so spry on his feet that he can walk around the world in 25 seconds.

It can't be did, you say? Yes, sir, it can; and if you demand proof, just walk down Central street until you reach the Walkover shoe store. There halt and peek through the right-hand window.

"What will I see?" you ask.

Well, you'll see a spry little man, about one foot in height, neatly attired in a tiny black suit, walking along the rim of the earth and walking so rapidly that with the passing of every 20 seconds he completes a circuit of the globe—revolving under his Walkovers.

For your information and just to show our friendliness, we will state that the diminutive gentleman and the miniature globe is a mechanical advertising device to emphatically demonstrate the fact that not a bit of earth lays on this planet that is not trodden by a Walkover shoe.

The ingenious bit of mechanism is a novel contrivance indeed, for it fixes onto the spectators' mind the one impression it is intended to fix—that the Walkover shoe is worn the world over.

Lowell friends of Congressman Eugene E. Reed of Manchester, N. H., who is serving his first term in congress, will be interested to learn that he is being boomed in some quarters for U. S. senator to succeed Callahan, counting it is said the support of Gov. Feltner and his faction who form a potent force in the democratic politics of the Granite state. U. S. Senator Hollis, however, it is claimed is out for the promotion of Congressman Stevens to the upper branch and in that event the contest between the two congressmen if it materializes will be an interesting affair. Congressman Reed has many

THE SCOFFERS
The scoffers sat around and said: "He never would succeed. He'd never earn his daily bread Or do a worthy deed. They said he wasn't any good. That all his plans were wrong; But he just did the best he could. And that way got along."

The cynics chewed their wisps of hay And ridiculed the lad. And on the day he went away They "cowed the move was bad. 'I'll soon be hiking back,' they said. 'We'll just sit here an' eat.' That boy'll never get ahead. An' he like you an' me."

The cynics and the scoffers still Were sitting round the store. When one day coming down the hill They saw the boy once more. They heard of his success, and then As quickly as they could They said: "You've come back home again."

By Gosh, we said ye would!"

EDITORIAL COMMENT.
GENTLEMEN—
Springfield Union: It begins to look as if President Wilson has April-fooled Mayor Mitchell in the Goethals case. Col. Goethals, whose appointment takes effect April 1, says he will stick to the governorship of the canal zone as long as the practice desires to retain his services. As the organization of a permanent government for the zone will be a long and arduous task, and the citizens naturally will desire Gov. Goethals to continue in service at least until that work is completed, it seems to devolve upon Mayor Mitchell to look elsewhere for a police commissioner.

HOOROWS U. S. IDEA
Portland Express: Canada as a general thing is loth to express itself in words of commendation of anything on this side of the boundary line. It is interesting to note then that during the month of the Canadian Convention the monthly The Canadian Convention is to adopt a parcel post system based upon the methods now successfully in use here in the United States. And there is little doubt that Canada will find the system as satisfactory as we have, even though the idea is an American one.

PROVIDENCE SCHOOLS

Providence Tribune: The question regarding the public facilities for education in this city can be very easily answered. Either the number of school houses must be increased or the number of children must be reduced. It is absolutely and unaccommodatingly necessary that the school authorities and the school children shall always be equal to each other.

OLD THEATRE AUDIENCES

Brooklyn Times: Dancing by the audience between the acts is the innovation introduced by one of the forerunners of the theatre. What's happened to the old-fashioned theatre audience? The old-fashioned theatre audience used to go to the theatre to see the play, and whose earings for physical activity were satisfied by resort to a box of peppermints.

AND LOWELL ALSO

Lynn News: Lynn ought to outlaw this village condition of everybody rushing to a gathering after the burning building while the firemen have to rush the crowd every time a move is made. It is true there will be a few patrolmen, but they are ineffective unless there is some stated line over which it will be illegal for the crowd to pass who has not the proper authority for his presence near the scene of the disaster.

RED CROSS

Paster's Democrat: As a great humane and patriotic institution devoted to the mitigation of suffering for the sake of humanity and the upbuilding of a strong and vigorous people, the American Red Cross, through its nursing service, is carrying into the homes of the people such simple instruction in hygiene and home care of the sick as will aid in the prevention of illness, and make it possible for women to render intelligently such care to the sick in their own homes as may safely be entrusted to them.

COMMUNICATION

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 31, 1914.
Editor, Lowell Sun:
Dear Sir: I would like a little information concerning the financial status of the city of Lowell at the present time. I have read and absorbed so many figures of late that I have become quite "addicted" to figures. I am, however, "help" to this high finance or frenzied finance deal that is being indulged in by the city council. I am a temporary loan business, my goat, for fair, and if it doesn't drive the bureau of statistics and labor, the "First National Bank of Boston," and the "Lowell Savings Bank," I miss my guess.

We are all familiar with the story of the lady who, in retrenching the expenses in the household, received the notion of beginning the operation by making that part of her little budget which is known by the euphonious and pleasant name of pants. She made them alike before and behind and some relative of hers, asked her how she succeeded. She said: "Very nicely, but they are so made that at a short distance they look like a pair of trousers. I am going to know if we are coming or going on this financial problem."

A Great Reader.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

WILL HOLD IMPORTANT MEETING AT WASHINGTON FEB. 11 TO 17 INCLUSIVE

The second annual meeting of the United States chamber of commerce will be the most influential business gathering of the year, for it comes immediately subsequent to the declaration of the administration relative to various methods of corporate control. During the sessions the main features of corporate activity will pass under the scrutiny of the business men of the nation. The moment is crucial in the nation's business history, for corporations represent more than 50,000 business enterprises with over $1,000,000,000 worth of stocks and over $3,000,000,000 worth of bonded and other obligations, and touch every phase of the development activity of the nation.

Two entire days at the second annual meeting of the chamber of commerce of the United States to be held in Washington, Feb. 11 to 17, will be given to the subject of antitrust legislation and the maintenance of reasonable prices. Antitrust legislation will be discussed Feb. 12. The concentration of industry in the United States will be taken up first. The respects in which the Sherman law requires definition will be part of this discussion. Second, the abolishment of holding companies and of interlocking directorates will be considered. Third, the rights and privileges of private parties in invoking the aid of the Sherman law will also be set forth. Fourth, the functions of a federal interstate trade commission will be discussed. The fifth point to be discussed is as to whether the trust form of organization is industrially efficient. Among the speakers will be President Charles R. Van Hise, University of Wisconsin; Mr. Louis D. Brandeis of Boston; Mr. Frederick B. Fish, former president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.; Mr. Victor Morawetz of New York city; Prof. Henry R. Senger, Columbia university; N. Y. Mr. Henry R. Towne, president of Yale and Towne Manufacturing Co. and former president of the Merchants association, New York city.

On Feb. 15, the question of maintenance of resale prices will be entered for discussion by the Hon. Joseph B. Danahy, commissioner of corporations. William H. Ingersoll of R. H. Ingersoll & Co., Syracuse, N. Y., will present two phases of the question.

PINKLETS

A Dainty Laxative That Gently Assists Nature

The day of harsh purgatives, of big cathartic pills is over—gone forever. No need any longer to swallow a nauseating dose to give nature the gentle assistance required. Pinklets, the new laxative, are tiny, pink granules, sugar coated, easy to take and smooth as velvet in their operation.

Pinklets positively will not grip, they produce not a single distressing symptom, yet their action is certain and thorough.

Pinklets are just the laxative you need to arouse the lazy, sluggish bowels and torpid liver. Don't keep on using harsh, strong purgatives for they always upset the stomach and leave the bowels irritated and in a worse condition than before. Rely on Pinklets to gently assist the bowels and be free from constipation.

These little pills are a corrective for bad breath, will clear the complexion and are recommended for torpid liver, biliousness, headaches and constipation.

Any druggist can supply you with Pinklets, 25 cents per bottle.

Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a Pinklet box which tells all about the right way to treat constipation.

school building a model "community centre".

The entire electric equipment was planned by local electricians with the assistance of U. S. government engineers on the Minidoka project. The government supplies surplus current from its own power, house 11 miles above Rupert, at a cost low enough to compete with coal. It is estimated that the cost of heating the new high school by electricity will be $1750 per year. Coal might have been used at a cost of about $1000, but the use of electricity saves the wages of a fireman at $75 per month, and the cost of installing the electric system was $3000 less than for any other system of heat—the interest on this investment being saved annually. It is therefore believed that the use of electric heat in the Rupert high school, besides being a great convenience, will prove a real economy.

JOHN J. FLAHERTY

February 20

Mr. John J. Flaherty, clerk of the local license board, has been notified that he will be recommended for admission to the Massachusetts bar and will be duly admitted on the 20th instant.

Mr. Flaherty has been attending the Y. M. C. A. Law school in Boston during the past four years and is to be congratulated upon his success. While attending in his official duties as clerk, he has been studying law and this in the evening hours of his spare time. Mr. Flaherty is a bright young man who will doubtless make his mark later.

Among the Lowell students now attending the Y. M. C. A. Law school is George M. Havigin of the Lowell Trust company.

CURLEY AND FITZ AT WAR

Features of Mayor Curley's Inaugural

The old order, which I trust is happily ended, is largely responsible for our present tax rate and debt.

I recommend such legislation as will result in purchases through the supply department for every department, and that advantage be taken of reasonable purchasing and cash discounts.

A monthly conference on city planning, to be participated in by committees . . . is necessary.

It is not my purpose to criticize my predecessor in the office of mayor for the present financial condition of Boston, but it is my determination that the policy of discharging political debts through the mediumship of the city treasury shall cease.

The pay rolls . . . call for the exercise of economy and efficiency. The adoption of this system (recommendations for salary increases should be submitted in department estimates each November), coupled with general equalization of salaries, would result in the fullest possible measure of justice.

In my opinion a conference of engineers should be called to determine the most durable and economic material and method of street construction for the future.

The abolition of the parental school at West Roxbury and the correctional institution at Rainsford Island . . . should be undertaken.

Medical experts today are unanimous in the opinion that drunkenness is a disease, and such being the case, for the protection of unfortunates thus afflicted, a system of segregation should be adopted.

The present system of holding primaries and elections for municipal office at a time when the weather is unusually severe . . . demands a change in date.

ing the inaugural speech in Tremont Temple. The ex-mayor, later in the day, replied in kind.

In political circles the feeling is that a battle to the (political) death is on between this pair of chieftains.

Supporters of Mayor Curley, some of whom are very close to the new mayor, say that the latter proposes to put the ex-mayor out of "business" politically, and that an alliance has already been formed between a number of powerful young leaders in the state democratic machine.

The new alliance plans to block the ex-mayor from realizing his ambition to become a United States senator.

Wide-Open Break
The ex-mayor is also strong with a number of influential leaders of the state machine and the indications are that a wide-open break in that organization is imminent.

Before the 3500 persons who crowded into Tremont Temple to witness the inauguration ceremonies yesterday morning, and in the presence of the retiring mayor who sat but a few feet away from him on the same platform the new mayor accused the ex-mayor of inflicting the city treasury.

He declared that as the result of men being threatened with having their property sold over their heads if the taxes upon the same were not paid at once, taxes were collected within the past few weeks which would not in the ordinary course of events have reached the city treasury until April or thereabouts.

He said that if these methods had not been used there would have been $700,000 in the city treasury now there would be a surplus of only $200,000, and this from water revenue. There would hardly be a dollar in the treasury from general taxes, he said.

Boston's Debt
Mayor Curley also produced figures to show that compared with other big cities in this country Boston's debt is very large.

While on the platform in Tremont Temple Mayor Fitzgerald whispered to a member of the city council sitting next to him that he would like to reply to Mayor Curley.

The crowd at the inaugural cheered the shafts which the mayor hurled at the ex-mayor, and the latter appeared decidedly uncomfortable.

(His mouth twitched a bit and his face reddened under the shots of the new mayor.)

While the new mayor was holding a reception in Tremont Temple, and later in city hall, the ex-mayor hurriedly made his way to the office of his newspaper, The Republic, and got busy on a reply to the new mayor.

Although it was unusual for an ex-mayor to reply to the inaugural address of a new mayor on the day that the address was delivered, the ex-mayor cast aside precedent and went after the new mayor.

Fitzgerald Replies
In a statement that he issued he declared that the new mayor was mistaken in his statement relative to the extraordinary effort to collect taxes which he said the ex-mayor made.

He asserted that the records of the city collector's office will show that last year there was only an increase of but two-thirds of 1 per cent. In the percentage of the collections of 1912 taxes which were outstanding more than a year. The records, he said, will also show that instead of an increase in the percentage of 1913 taxes collected there was a decrease of one-half of 1 per cent.

He declared that if the tax collections during his last year in office had been as large as during the previous year, from $150,000 to $200,000 would have been added to the surplus which he left in the treasury.

Tells the Whole Story
In reply to Curley's debt statement

Talks on Teeth

BY DR. GAGNON

Take Care of Your Mouth

As you well know the mouth is one of the important parts of the human body. When in a healthy condition it masticates the food that later furnishes the strength for the support of the various organs that maintain life. When the functions of the mouth are impaired by lost or decayed teeth or diseased gums, mastication suffers, the body is un-nourished, digestive troubles arise, the breath becomes offensive and the face loses both expression and beauty.

The mouth is also closely associated with the brain. How easy it is to tell by the speech of a person whether he has diseased teeth or gums, a malformed mouth, bare lip, plate of false teeth, etc. Hence it behooves one to take the matter seriously and see that all abnormal conditions are successfully and speedily corrected by the most modern skill.

The great drawback in the past has been the fear of pain. This thought can be instantly vanished from the mind for with my Napa-Mint you will feel no pain while the Porcelain Method is being installed.

The Porcelain Method has for its foundation the solid alveolar ridge, therefore the strain is as near as possible where nature intended it to be and evenly distributed.

When the work is completed these teeth rival nature's teeth so closely that it is almost impossible for anyone to say which are the natural teeth, and moreover there is absolutely no pain attached to the operation. Try it and be convinced.

New Mayor of Boston Snubs Ex-Mayor and Attacks His Administration

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Mayor Curley and ex-Mayor Fitzgerald looked horns yesterday. On the day they changed positions in the mayor's office these two political chieftains collided and started in to gore each other.

Twice during the day the mayor snubbed the ex-mayor. He broke the usual custom followed by mayors-elect, of calling upon the retiring mayor before the inauguration ceremonies. He said to his announced intention not to visit city hall until he did so as mayor. When he met the ex-mayor in Tremont Temple, he coldly stared away from his predecessor as the latter shook his hand.

Then the new mayor, with the condition of the city treasury as his topic, lashed out at the retiring mayor during the inaugural ceremony. He said to his announced intention not to visit city hall until he did so as mayor. When he met the ex-mayor in Tremont Temple, he coldly stared away from his predecessor as the latter shook his hand.

NEW BOILER HOUSE FOR BLEACHERY CO.

Big Improvement for the Lowell Bleachery—Smoke Nuisance to be Overcome by New Plant—Prosperity Boom Ahead

The Lowell Bleachery company, in order to comply with the law relative to eliminating the smoke nuisance, has decided to build a new boiler house of modern construction with a boiler capable of developing 1000 horse power and to be provided with a mechanical stoker that will do away almost entirely with smoke from the chimneys.

The old power plant will be retained for possible emergencies. The work will be done under the direction of Engineer John A. Stevens. The prosperity of the company makes this improvement possible and the present outlook indicates a coming period of great prosperity.

HOUSE WAS RANSACKED

Key Workers Busy In W. Centralville—Jewelry and Money Stolen—Police at Work on Case

The police are trying to locate the party who broke into the house numbered 11 Fisher street, West Centralville and got away with a gold ring and some money last Thursday afternoon, but thus far their efforts have been fruitless.

Thefts were committed in tenements occupied by Mrs. Stephen Racine and a Mrs. Racine and it is believed the thief gained an entrance by working the rear door with a key. Thursday afternoon the two women went out and during their absence a key worker forced an entrance and ransacked the upper tenement, which is occupied by Mrs. Racine. He got away with a gold ring and a sum of money.

Mrs. Racine did not discover that the thief had entered her house until yesterday, when she found that her baby's bank which contained a substantial sum of money was missing. The police were then notified and immediately an officer was sent to investigate. It is believed that the thief was one of the street corner thugs who are numerous in that vicinity.

TILL NEXT CITY ELECTION

Municipal Board so Voted This Forenoon—Brown Wants Principal Assessors Removed—St. John's Hospital to Receive $3500 From City

The municipal council took rather drastic action at its meeting this morning in relation to the Pillsbury estate as a site for a contagious hospital by voting to refer the matter to the voters at the next annual city election.

There is some difference of opinion, however, as to the legality of the council's action, the claim being made that the council has no discretion upon the filing of the initiative petition, and that the petitioners should be allowed ten more days, as provided by the charter, in which to complete the necessary number of names. One of the petitioners to the initiative stated that unless the council rescinds its action of today mandamus would be in order.

It was the busiest meeting held thus far by the government for 1914 and some very important matters were presented. Com. Brown had his innings by serving notice on his brother members that at the next meeting of the council he would move that Messrs. Blazon, O'Sullivan and Hogan be removed as principal assessors.

He read a very strong statement relative to the conduct of the assessors' office. The council voted to instruct the mayor to bring in an estimate covering the petition asking that the city pay St. John's hospital $3500. A petition from Dr. Francis R. Mahoney asking that other disturbing noises be eliminated for the benefit of persons sick at home or in hospitals, was referred to Commissioner Carmichael.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 11:30 with all members present.

Pole Locations
The first business before the meeting had to do with pole locations and wire attachments. The first petition was for a pole in Lewis and Jefferson streets. In this connection, Commissioner Morse took occasion to remark that the appropriation for street lighting, $102,000, had been pushed over on his appropriation, the street department appropriation, making said appropriation look tremendously large.

He had discovered, he said, that under the contract, not another light could be added. "I speak of this matter now," said Mr. Morse, "because I want to make the thing clear."

A petition asking that the name Carmon street be changed to Christman street was referred, as were other petitions and notices of personal injuries.

The petition of Edward F. Slattery for appointment as a constable was confirmed and the bond accepted.

Commissioner Donnelly reported favorably on the petition of the Merrimack Mfg. Co. to keep and store gasoline, and the petition was granted.

The Contagious Hospital
Mayor Murphy read the communication and order having to do with the purchase of the Pillsbury estate as a contagious hospital in connection with the initiative petition and accordingly it was the report of City Clerk Flynn to the effect that there was still an insufficiency of names.

The mayor, at this point, called Commissioner Carmichael, president of the council, to the chair and the mayor took the floor to speak on the hospital question.

"I believe it is unnecessary," he said, "for the city at this time to go to the expense of a city election which would cost anywhere from $2000 to $2500 and I move that the matter be referred to the next annual city election."

Com. Brown said that the council ought not to act too hastily in the matter; that the petitioners on the initiative had rights that should be regarded and respected and he doubted the right of the council to refer the matter to the next annual election. He moved as an amendment that the matter be referred to the city solicitor. The amendment was not seconded and the question then came on the original motion to refer the matter to the voters at the next annual election. The vote so to do was unanimous.

State Board of Health

On motion of Com. Carmichael it was voted to invite the state board of health to examine all of the sites that have been offered to the city, gratis and otherwise, for a contagious hospital. Com. Brown suggested that it would be a good idea for every member of the municipal council to accompany the state board on its tour of inspection and his brother members agreed with him.

Estimates For the Year

Commissioner Brown then presented formally the estimates of the different departments for the year and in presenting the estimate for the year he attempted to later Mr. Brown submitted the following figures, showing that there is more money available this year than last year:

Available in 1909, at $12 on	$931,673.65
the $1000	$1,011,908.44
Department revenue	$31,468.14
Total	$1,043,041.79
Available in 1912, at $12 on	$1,363,036.79
the $1000	$53,752.23
Department revenue	$63,000.00
Total	$1,416,788.92

Available in 1914 at $12 on the $1000 $1,446,752.22
Department revenue 450,000.00
Total $1,496,752.22

Revenue, 1914	$1,461,908.44
Revenue, 1913	$1,461,908.44
Balance	$1,446,752.22
Estimated, 1914	$1,515.22
Estimated, 1913	$1,673,465.82
Difference	$1,593,365.92
Total	$2,107.21

Balloting Was Postponed
Commissioner Brown moved that the council proceed to ballot for a member of the board of health to succeed Dr. Brancille. Commissioner Carmichael moved as an amendment that the matter be postponed until the next meeting. The mayor asked Mr. Brown if he wished to withdraw his motion and Mr. Brown said he would.

Lowell General Hospital
The following petition by members of the medical and surgical staff of the Lowell General hospital was read by the mayor and referred to the commissioner of streets and highways: Lowell General Hospital, Varnum avenue, Lowell.

To the Honorable Commissioners of the City of Lowell:
We, the undersigned, members of the medical and surgical staff of the Lowell General hospital, respectfully request that the surface of Varnum avenue to the hospital and a part of Riverside street nearby, be put in order in a durable manner and at the earliest possible date.

(Signed) Drs. Edward O. Tabor, J. A. Thurston, G. C. Forrest, Martin, C. H. Leland, W. M. Jones, John H. Leland, Joe Vincent, Meigs, H. Leland, George, Royden Pillsbury, Archibald R. Gardner, Geo. A. Leach, George L. Van Deusen, James B. Field, Howard W. Jewett.

World Remove Assessors
Com. Brown gave notice to the council that at the next meeting he would move that the three principal assessors be removed from office. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen of the Council: I have been reliably informed that the members of the board of assessors have entirely ignored the members of this council and the action of this council in requesting the members of the board of assessors to extend an invitation to the tax commissioner of this commonwealth to make a thorough investigation of the assessors' office in order to bring about a more just and equitable assessment of taxes. Instead of complying with the request of this council the members of the board of assessors, in the spirit that has dominated their office to the public detriment, went secretly to the state house to attempt to block any examination of their office, leaving the office for a day without any member of this high salaried board in attendance upon their public duties.

The members of this board go and come from their office without regard to office hours and are devoting their time to other business than that for which they are receiving a splendid salary from the city treasury.

As a member of this board and as commissioner of finance I am fully convinced that the good of the public service demands a cleaning out of the assessors' office and at the next regular meeting of this council I shall move that Albert J. Blazon, Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan and Daniel P. Hogan be removed from office for the benefit of the public service and that their successors be elected by this council.

$3500 For St. John's Hospital
Mayor Murphy read a petition asking that the city contribute $3500 to St. John's hospital.

Commissioner Brown said he was in favor of the petition and moved that the council authorize the mayor to bring in an estimate covering the amount named in the petition. The petition reads as follows:

Gentlemen of the Municipal Council of the City of Lowell:
The subscribers, citizens of Lowell, respectfully call the attention of your honorable board to the following considerations in connection with St. John's hospital, an institution maintained by the Sisters of Charity, in the city of Lowell.

The numbers of emergency cases treated at the hospital during the past four years were as follows: 1910, 639, of which 405 were treated free; 1911, 714, of which 394 were treated free; 1912, 671, of which 435 were treated free; 1913, 545, of which 255 were treated free. Average number treated for four years, 642; average number treated free for four years, 375.

During the year 1913, 122 of the accident cases treated had X-ray service, which made a very material addition to the cost of such work. The city pays the hospital $7 a week for each of its cases; but during the past year 58 of the 142 cases were operative cases, a very important additional consideration, one patient had three major operations, and six X-ray pictures were taken, for which nothing was received above the $7 per week, which the city has agreed upon as a flat rate.

In the out-patient department about 3000 treatments are given in a year; those who can do so, pay the small sum of 25 cents for a surgical dressing, and get medicine at cost.

The hospital has a deficit of $2856.13 at the close of 1913.

He moved that the three principal assessors be removed from office. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen of the Council: I have been reliably informed that the members of the board of assessors have entirely ignored the members of this council and the action of this council in requesting the members of the board of assessors to extend an invitation to the tax commissioner of this commonwealth to make a thorough investigation of the assessors' office in order to bring about a more just and equitable assessment of taxes. DIED VERY SUDDENLY
IN HAMILTON MILL

Timothy Corcoran Passed Away While Waiting for Dinner Boy at Noon Today

Timothy Corcoran, aged about 12 years and residing at 83 Tyler street, died suddenly while at his work at the Hamilton mill this noon, the cause of death, it is believed, being heart disease.

Corcoran, who was employed in the dye house of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., worked all forenoon and was apparently in the best of health. At noon when he stopped work while waiting for his dinner he lay down on the floor. When the boy who brought his dinner arrived he saw Mr. Corcoran lying on the floor, apparently asleep, and made no efforts to awaken him, but instead he sat down and waited. At 12:35 some of the employees returned to their work and when they saw Corcoran they tried to arouse him, but without avail.

Believing the man was unconscious his companions sent in a hurried call for the ambulance, but upon the arrival of the doctor it was learned the man was dead. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Peter H. Savage, where it was viewed by Medical Examiner Joe V. Meigs. Deceased, who had been employed at the Hamilton dye works for about four years, is survived by a wife, who was later notified of the sad death of her husband.

DEMANDS RETIREMENT OF TAMMANY BOSS

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Friends of Charles F. Murphy, whose retirement as leader of Tammany Hall is demanded in a resolution adopted last night by the National Democratic club, today announced their intention of appealing to the board of governors of the club on the ground that the year and may vote was illegal.

Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, denounced the action of Edward P. O'Dwyer, president of the club, in refusing to put the question to a rising vote, as "the worst instance of boss rule I ever saw."

The whole proceeding was illegal, Smith declared. It was also announced that another meeting of the club probably will be called and an attempt made to rescind the action taken last night or declare it illegal.

The club's bye-laws forbid action on state or municipal politics.

The full membership of the club is 725. The board of governors consists of 24 men, most of them independent democrats.

LOWELL RAISED $8,300

For St. Elizabeth's Hospital With Three Parishes Yet to be Heard From—Final Meeting

Two days before the official closing of the campaign conducted throughout the archdiocese to raise $200,000 for the new St. Elizabeth's hospital at Brighton, Lowell turned in the $5000 required as its share to the local campaign headquarters, 3 Bonds building, and not only that but $1300 extra, so that with the personal contributions of Monsignor O'Brien of St. Patrick's and Dr. Kehler of St. Peter's, this city will be credited with over $8,300 in the final summing up. The total collected will be sent by check to the campaign treasurer, Joseph H. O'Neil, Boston, to day, and anything collected from now until Wednesday evening, the official time of closing, will be sent in as a supplementary report.

Interest was keen at the meeting held last evening, as on the preceding day only one parish had reached its allotment, and there was quite a spirit of friendly rivalry. The parish representatives of the several committees were in almost all cases late in arriving at the work of the last day was unusually strenuous and money kept pouring in up to the last minute, when finally the priests in charge of the work began to make their report it became evident that the required amount and more had been reached. Except in the Immaculate Conception and Sacred Heart parishes, all the parishes that reported had reached their allotment, and the two that did not quite reach it felt confident of doing so before Wednesday evening. When the returns reached $4000, Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan, executive chairman, gave his personal contribution of $1000, and a check for the same amount was presented by the Oblates of Mary Immaculate of this city.

Parish Returns
The amounts collected up to date in the various parishes are as follows: St. Patrick's, $835; St. Michael's, $500.55; St. Peter's, $175; Sacred Heart, $563; Immaculate Conception, $112.25; St. Margaret's, $206; St. Louis, $200; St. Columba's, $150; Notre Dame de Lourdes, $103. This makes a full or partial report for all the parishes of the city with the exception of three that, by special arrangement, will make their contribution to Boston directly before Wednesday evening. Besides the contribution of Mr. O'Sullivan and the Oblate Fathers, there was also a contribution of $300 to the general city fund last evening from a friend.

Directors Grateful
The priests who directed the work throughout the city declared last evening that from the first there was the greatest enthusiasm in the cause and the responses were ready and generous. The most gratifying feature of the entire campaign was the readiness with which the poor contributed as from the beginning the sum collected daily was swelled considerably by the small contributions of those who could spare but little. The directors were also proud in praise of their collectors who did not spare themselves in putting Lowell in the creditable place it holds on the Boston list of parishes. A rising year of thanks was given last evening to the contributors, the collectors, Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan and Dr. J. T. Donohue, who kindly gave the use of his office to the committee during the campaign and to the press.

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

Mac-teaths of All Stomach Trouble Said to Be Due to Acidity

A Physician's Advice on Cause and Cure

A famous physician whose successful record in the treatment of acid stomachs and intestinal disorders, have earned for him an international reputation, said in the course of a recent lecture that nearly all intestinal troubles, as well as many diseases of the vital organs, were directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach which in turn was due to fluxes out of ten to excessive acidity, commonly termed acid stomach or heartburn, which not only irritated and inflamed the stomach, but also set up gastritis and stomach ulcers. It is interesting to note that he condemns the use of patent medicines as well as of medical treatment for the stomach, stating that he and his colleagues have secured remarkable results by the use of ordinary blotted magnesia, by neutralizing the acidity of the food, removing the source of the trouble. He contends that it is as foolish to treat the stomach with acid as it would be to rub liniment on the foot without first removing the tack. Remove the tack and the foot will heal. He said that the acid and stomach troubles will disappear. Irritating medicines and medical treatments are useless, so long as the contents of the stomach remain acid, remove the acidity and there will be no need for medicine—the inflamed lining of the stomach will heal itself. Sufferers from acidity, indigestion or heartburn should get a small bottle of blotted magnesia from their druggist, and take a teaspoonful in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after meals, repeating in fifteen minutes, if necessary, this being the dose which the doctor has found most efficacious in all cases.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Women registered today for the first time in Chicago preparatory to exercising their right of franchise at the spring democratic primaries. It is estimated that upward of 200,000 women will register. Acting as judges and clerks of election were seven hundred women.

The record for previous registration in Chicago was 137,426. Plus the expected woman's registration and the additional men's registration, this year's total should exceed 657,000.

In the hope of getting a big registration of their sex as an argument for the further extension of the franchise, nearly 20,000 women organized under political parties, non-partisan suffrage associations and women's clubs worked energetically.

"Baby stations," where mothers could leave their children while registering, were maintained in several wards by suffrage leaders and political clubs while mothers who did not want to leave their babies at nurseries were supplied with a trained nurse who watched over her household while she went to register. Automobiles carrying nurses went to the homes of women reluctant to register and carried them and their children in the registration booths. While the mothers were registering the nurses cared for the babies.

NEWS OF LEGISLATURE

Signs of Activity in Debate Limit

—N. England Railroad Problems to be Attacked—Other Matters

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—The state house of representatives had a fairly long session yesterday. Another indication that the house is getting "down to business" was the offering of the order, usually adopted much later in the session, that unless otherwise ordered no member except the first speaker on each side of a question shall be allowed more than 10 minutes for debate. The order was referred to the committee on rules and will probably be adopted.

Washburn of Worcester introduced a resolution asking the federal government to keep its hands off the railroad situation in New England until the legislatures of New England have had time to decide what, in their opinion, ought to be done.

Mr. Washburn's resolution points out that the request is made so that "the federal government and New England may cooperate in unity and sympathy in a wise solution of the problem."

Both the Washburn and Noland resolutions were referred to the committee on rules.

The bill to put under the civil service rules the inspectors and assistant inspectors employed by the public service commission prompted the democrats to say the bill was nothing but a measure to protect republicans not holding the jobs. McCherney, Tagne and Lomasney, all of Boston, opposed, and Haines of Medford, Doherty of Lenox, Washburn of Worcester and Cox of Boston supported the bill. After a motion to recommittal had failed it was ordered to a third reading on a roll call, 112 to 90.

The same committee's report of leave to withdraw the A. F. of L. petition for a Saturday half-holiday for day laborers employed by the commonwealth met with an attempt yesterday to substitute the bill against which the committee had reported.

Cox, Sullivan, McManus and McCherney, all of Boston, favored amendment. Mr. McCherney offering an amendment limiting the application of the bill to permanent employees. Consideration was postponed until today.

In the senate the rules were suspended to admit Senator Bailey's bill, providing that two years after enactment it shall be unlawful for a trust company to hold more than 10 percent of the capital stock of any other trust company, and that no trust company shall be merged or consolidated with another trust company except under provisions of the corporation law of 1902.

The bill to extend to April 1 the time in which the board of elevator regulations shall report was finally passed. It had been hung up pending an opinion regarding the standing of the superintendent of buildings of Boston, who is an ex-officio member of the board. An eminent legal authority has advised the committee on rules that Mr. Everett can continue to serve on this commission until it has been discharged, the time was extended.

Committee Hearings

The legislative committee on labor gave a hearing yesterday on the petition of Walter E. Hill, secretary of the New Bedford Textile council, to establish 100 pounds as the maximum weight which women mill workers would be permitted to handle. Representative John Halliwell of New Bedford, John Waldron of the New Bedford Carders' association, Herbert Clark of the New Bedford Textile council, James Tanney of the Fall River Carders' association and Representative Herbert Wing of Dartmouth were heard in favor. There was no opposition.

Corporation Counsel Joseph J. Corbett and Chairman John A. Sullivan of the finance commission urged before the committee on metropolitan affairs a bill to authorize Boston to send its school other taxpayers to congresses, conventions and other bodies of interest. They differed only as to the amount to be spent. The former thought $4000 a year about right and the latter favored $2500 as a maximum. Chairman Sullivan desires to include the school committee and the measure is to be redrafted. No opposition appeared.

know whether in the case of curves the outer or the inner track would be taken as the standard, since there is considerable difference. When there is a curve upwards and sideways, is the arc of the sector to be measured

Sources of Error in Old Method

In the discussion of measurements by the steel tape, it was pointed out that a variation of 90 degrees in temperature, as between summer and winter, affects the tape so as to cause a difference of three feet to a mile. Other errors might result from variation in tension in stretching the tape or failure to place the end of the tape on the very center of the line where the last 100-foot stretch ended.

A problem yet to be solved is the composition of the measuring party. The automobile holds only five. Inspector L. E. D. Marston will probably represent the weights and measures department, and there are also wanted a representative of the public service department, an official of the railroad and a member of its engineering department familiar with surveys. Then there will need to be a chauffeur or engineer to drive the car, and probably a train despatcher or traffic manager to steer the party through the road's train schedules. That makes six, with no allowance for reporters, and it was suggested that a new car may be required for the occasion.

After the measurement is made it is probable that the mile posts will be changed to their correct positions. It was pointed out that the Boston & Albany has suffered blame because, although the mileage was all changed when the road left the old Kneeland street terminal for the South station, the mile posts are still in their old places and do not agree.

The railroad men who attended the conference appeared satisfied with the plan outlined. With Commissioner Thompson and Inspector Marston there were Commissioners Macleod, White, Bishop and Stone, and for the railroad W. A. Barrows of the Boston & Albany, E. L. Wilson of the New Haven and L. E. Howell of the Boston & Maine.

BIG ICE HARVEST

Quite as Abundant as Any for Past 10 Years

Says the Gage Co.

The housekeepers of this city need have little fear of a shortage of ice next summer for during the past few weeks a supply equal to any harvested during the past 10 years has been packed in the houses of the Gage Ice Co. on the banks of the Merrimack river and at South Chelmsford and early this morning a gang of over 200 men journeyed out to Forge Village and started to fill the ice houses there.

The plant located at Forge Village is the largest owned by the company and it is expected that it will be filled to its capacity in about 10 days, providing the weather remains favorable for ice cutting. The blocks are about 14 inches thick and the quality is equally as good as that harvested in Lowell, and Chelmsford.

After about three hours' spent in marking off the ice and making a runway from the marked space to the edge of the pond, the work of filling the houses was begun and at noon everything was going along at full swing.

The most of the crew were employed in sawing the ice into cakes and sending it along the runway although some are stationed inside of the houses at all times, packing the blocks safely and covering them with sawdust so that the sun's rays cannot melt them.

The plant at Forge Village will hold in the vicinity of 50,000 tons and when this is gathered the Gage Co. will have an ample supply of ice. The 200 men are divided into groups and the work of each group is supervised by a foreman.

Beate's orch. Donhouse, tonight.

"CLEAN UP" AT QUINCY

MAYOR MILLER CONTINUES TO PUSH THROUGH NAMES NEW TAX ASSESSORS

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Following close on the removal of Tax Assessors Stocker and Mitchell from office by Mayor Miller of Quincy yesterday, the mayor notified the city council at a regular meeting of that body, last evening, that he had filled the vacancies by the appointment of Thomas Switlin and Eric G. Bergfors. These appointments will qualify before City Clerk Crane today, and with Gustave B. Bates, recently named chairman for three years, the new board will be complete and ready for business.

The Quincy board of health will enter upon its duties today. The appointees are John Reynolds, West Quincy physician, and Thomas L. A. Musgrave, clothing cutter, who resides in the Norfolk Downs district.

The mayor has remembered his campaign manager, Joseph B. Grossman, for three years. Mr. Grossman is also receiving congratulations on his coming marriage to Miss Esther Lottman of Dorchester.

Michael C. Sargent, who has held the office of city engineer under three previous administrations, was reappointed last night. City Clerk Crane and City Engineer Sargent are the only two out of more than a score of city officials retained, so that the "clean up" of Quincy's city hall by Mayor Miller has been quite complete.

Fire Chief Faxon Billings has reappointed the old district chiefs and announced the following company captains: James Mahan at Tough's Neck; John Doherty at West Quincy; Charles Anderson at Woburn; William Garry, Atlantic, and James Gallagher, Quincy Point.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Charles Wardwell Scofield, once a wealthy railroad builder, whose first wife, a beautiful athletic club's weekly entertainment. The local boy shaded his opponent in all but two of the rounds but, as no decision is given at the club he only received a draw.

Riley was the bigger of the two boys but Riordan showed more versatility in his attack and kept his heavier opponent on the defensive most of the time. The two rounds that were fairly even Riley boxed it with both hands after getting Riordan in a corner but these were the only times when he seemed able to land an effective blow upon the local boxer.

Riordan used a left jab and a right hand uppercut to the body as his main stock in trade and soon had the crowd with him on account of his clever work at getting away from the two-hand swings of his opponent.

In the two last rounds the Lowell boxer went into his man with both hands and never let up on him for a second. Always circling him Riordan sent home two hand punches that would have ended the fight had his opponent not been so rugged a performer. In the seventh round Riley was in distress on the ropes when the bell rang.

The largest crowd that has witnessed a fight in Dover this season took in last night's bout. The two bouts were unmatched after the bout and will meet again in the near future.

TO DEMAND TESTIMONY

PETITION ASKING FOR ORDER TO COMPEL VICE PRESIDENT OF AMERICAN CO. TO ANSWER QUESTION

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Representatives of the interstate commerce committee were prepared today to file a petition in the U. S. district court asking for an order to compel Frederick W. Ellis, vice president of the American Refrigerator Car Lines to answer questions regarding business done by his company.

On the contention that the commission had no jurisdiction over the business because the Armour Car company was engaged in transporting its own products, Ellis recently declined to answer questions of George F. Boyle, attorney for the commission in the private line inquiry. The petition was received here yesterday from Washington.

OUR EDUCATIONAL NEEDS

Discussed at Banquet Tendered by Daniel Swan to Alumni of High School

Mr. Daniel Swan gave a banquet last night to the executive committee of the Lowell High School Alumni association at Yale Chambers, in Merrimack street. It was a very interesting meeting and a discussion of the school house and Lowell's educational problem in general was participated in by both men and women.

In the absence of the president, Solon W. Stevens, the first vice president, School Committee member Edmund T. Simpson, called to order at the close of the banquet and read a letter of regret from Mr. Stevens who is in New York.

Mr. Simpson then turned the meeting over to Edward W. Trull who suggested that the alumni of the high school might be able to give some definite help in connection with the working out of the school problem.

The first speaker called upon by Mr. Trull was William Orr, member of the state board of education. Mr. Orr, speaking of vocational education, said that when it first came to the front there was some question as to what effect it would have on high school attendance and he said there has been sufficient trial to prove that the vocational school does not draw away from the high school.

From statistics furnished in the report of the state board, he showed that of the 1,105,000 pupils in the so-called secondary schools less than one-tenth are following classical courses. Also, that the high schools have grown three times the growth of the population, and so far as can be seen that growth is likely to continue.

He said that a large proportion of the pupils are going into vocational schools. He told of the growth of the Springfield high school of which he was at one time the principal. He was glad, he said, that there was an alumni association to assist in solving the problems here.

In building up the system of secondary education, he said, local conditions must always be taken into consideration. Some of the questions to be taken into account are, shall there be one or several high schools? Shall there be one large comprehensive high school, which provides many courses, or shall there be several schools. And there is the question of segregation of the sexes, either in different schools or within the school. Personally, he said, while appreciating some of the difficulties, he was greatly impressed with the advantages of having the boys and girls associated in the work of the high school. Some cities have tried the plan of having several junior and one central senior high school, the high school age running from 12 to 18 years. Another plan is a central grammar school, affording a transition from the elementary to the high school.

that has some advantages. But, he said, no one is able, at our present stage of development in educational progress, to lay down anything hard and fast. It is well to have the judgment of all the people concerned brought to bear upon the problem.

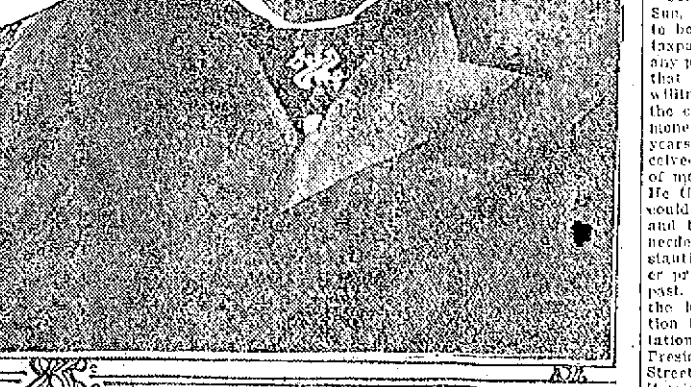

P. F. Sullivan, president of the Bay State Street Railway Co., said there was never such a demand for trained minds as there is today. This demand is not so much for people to go into the profession, as into business activities and it is a duty not only to the community but to the country as a whole, to train the young. Mr. Sullivan said that so far as the local situation is concerned he was willing to help out to the limit if necessary.

He said that transportation is an important factor in Lowell and that if we had district high schools the problem would be a serious one, because this is not a city that lends itself to cross-town accommodations. He pointed out that the trend of travel in the city indicates where the central high school ought to be. He said that the present building is admirably situated, and a still better location to take care of the transportation, would be somewhere near Paige and Merrimack streets.

School Committee member Abel C. Campbell spoke of the industrial school proposition. He called attention to the fact that the industrial school is now occupying four buildings in different sections of the city. He said that a new school could be erected on the ledge in Fletcher street, on property owned by the city, at an expense of about $75,000, and as soon as it was completed, other buildings could be added. If the municipal council saw fit, reducing the expense by about $20,000.

He advocated taking land by right of eminent domain for the high school, asking the legislature for relief, and putting the question to the voters as to whether the city council of 1915 is to appropriate a certain amount of money for a high and industrial school. He thought the two problems went hand in hand.

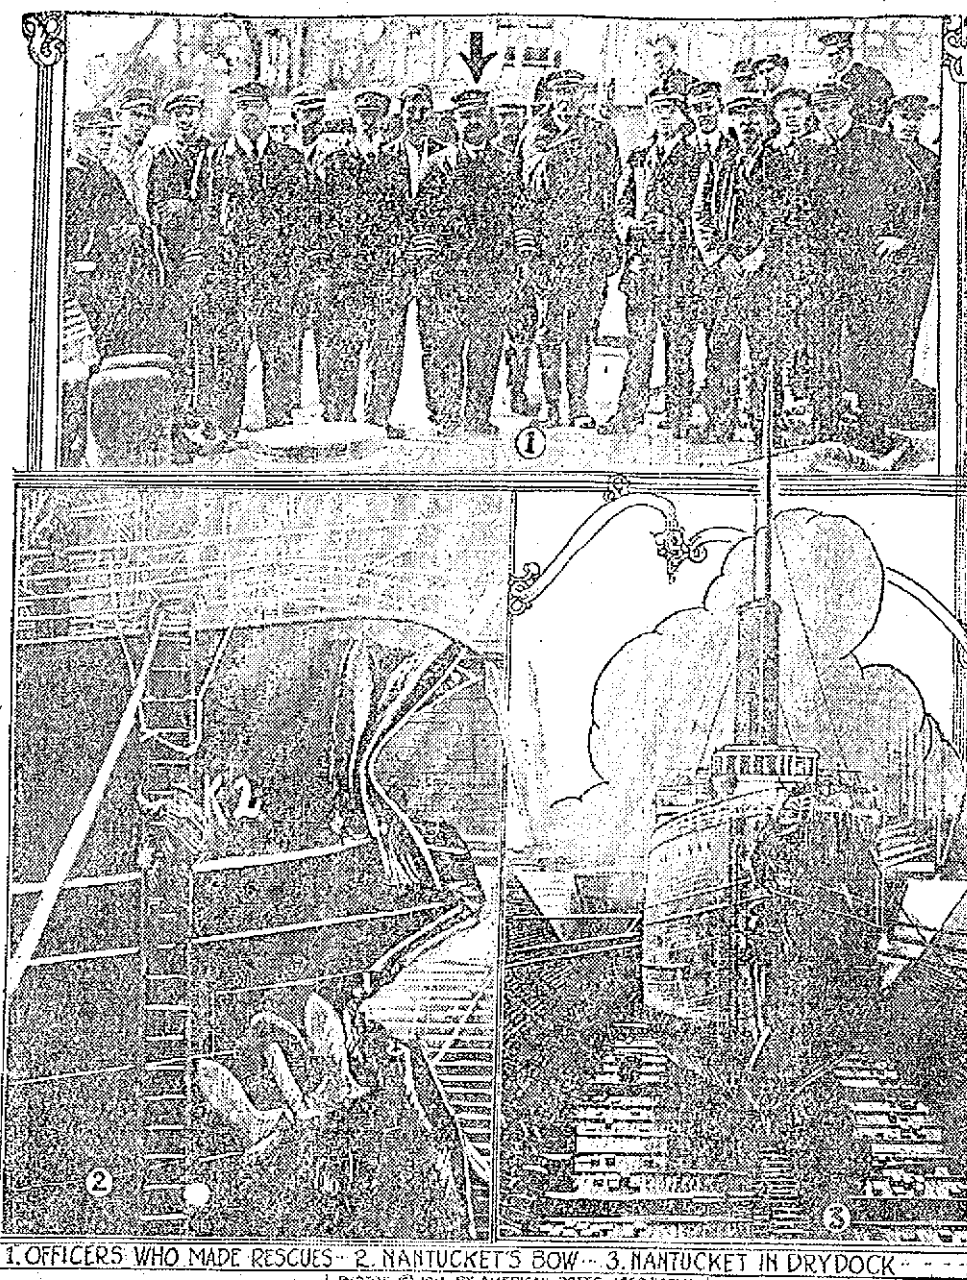

Mayor Dennis J. Murphy said the city government had found that the people did not want to pay for many of the things they are asking for. The school committee, he said, takes nearly half of the annual appropriation. He thought that schools could be consolidated all over the city, and expenses cut down. The people of Lowell do not care how much money is spent frugally for schools, but they do not want it wasted. He believed that $175,000 is too much for the school board to spend at the present time. At least $50,000 could be saved out of the appropriation, by consolidating schools, and this would be a nucleus

WILLIAM ROCKEFELLER

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—William Rockefeller, who was excused from testifying before the Pujo congressional committee a year ago on the ground that the attending excitement might cause his death, is making a brave fight for life. His physician, Dr. Walter T. Chappell, who is also his son-in-law, denies that Mr. Rockefeller is recovering from the malignant throat disease which prevented his testifying before the committee. Dr. Chappell considered a hitherto unpublished revelation concerning Mr. Rockefeller's fight against death. He said that for ten years Mr. Rockefeller had taken a rigorous steam treatment for his throat. Each evening before he retires a two gallon jug of boiling water is brought to his room. He inhales the steam from this jug for many minutes getting as much of it as possible into his throat. Under this treatment there are some days when Mr. Rockefeller finds conversation easy. At other times he can barely whisper a rasping word or two.

NEW FOG RULES AS RESULT OF SINKING OF MONROE—THE NANTUCKET AFTER CRASH

1. OFFICERS WHO MADE RESCUES—2. NANTUCKET'S BOW—3. NANTUCKET IN DRY DOCK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—As the result of the ramming and sinking of the Old Dominion liner Monroe by the steamer Nantucket it is probable that efforts will be made at once by the department of commerce to have an international law adopted requiring steamships to come as nearly to a full stop as possible and remain stopped as long as the lookout or the captain on the bridge is unable to distinguish moving objects clearly within an eighth of a mile. The department of commerce has full power to prescribe such a rule on navigation within the jurisdiction of the United States, but on the high seas it would be necessary for the enforcement of such a rule to amend the maritime convention to which the United States is a signatory power and to which twenty-five or thirty other nations also have subscribed. In the past it has been difficult to get this convention amended. George Ulmer, supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service, states that he is strongly in favor of the eighth of a mile rule for navigation on the high seas, and he indicated that he would recommend to Secretary Redfield that action be taken to have such a rule adopted. The accompanying illustration shows the officers of the Nantucket, who did good work in rescuing passengers of the Monroe from the water; the shattered bow of the Nantucket and the vessel in dry dock for repairs. The arrow indicates Captain Berry of the Nantucket, who claims that the Monroe was at fault.

for a high school building. Then, in a year or two, when the city's finances are in better shape, it will be time to consider what the municipal council can do. He favored a high school at the proper time, but he considered the industrial school to be in the experimental stage. He also called attention to the fact that the city is taking care of 150 pupils in the high school that do not belong in Lowell.

Relative to the industrial school the mayor said it had been called to his attention that persons who had attended the industrial school for two or three years were unable to earn more than fifteen cents an hour in the mills, factories and workshops, and he said that that was in the best school could do for its pupils. It was time to cut out the industrial school.

Thomas F. Fisher, principal of the industrial school, said he believed in a central school. The only advantage in segregation, he said, is one of expense. He spoke of the advantages of industrial training.

Miss Grace Ward, president of the Middlesex Women's club, said she was proud of being a member of the class which provided the city with its present child executive. She had no suggestions to make as to the solving of present local conditions, but as a matter of interest, she presented an outline of the plan of half-time schools.

John H. Harrington, of the Lowell Sun, said that the question would have to be settled by the taxpayers. As a taxpayer, he said, he never opposed any public improvement and he thought that the taxpayers, as a whole, were willing to stand the cost, providing the city was getting the worth of its money. It has been a good many years, he said, since the city has received a fair equivalent for the amount of money invested in school buildings. He thought that the school houses could be constructed more economically and that when additional schools are needed they could be made plain, substantial and fire proof at a much lower price than the city has paid in the past. He believed in the extension of the high school at its present location because of the ease of transportation to that point as explained by President Sullivan of the Bay State Street Railway. He thought, however, it might be well to delay such extensions until such time as the city government gets out of its present financial dilemma.

Continuing, the speaker said the apparently excessive expenditures of the school department were not due to dishonesty on the part of the school board or the municipal government, but to divided responsibility. He advised that legislation be secured to provide for the placing of the entire responsibility of the schools in the hands of the school board, so that the board can have its own income and run the department separately as is the case with the water department at the present time. This plan would include a construction and maintenance fund so that when new buildings are required the board could have a shock of taxpayers by asking for a large appropriation or loan. Clearer ideas might be had if the school board appropriation should be figured upon a per capita basis, per pupil.

He also stated that there was a deep conviction on the part of the taxpayers that more money was being expended on schools than was absolutely necessary. He believed that the school board could economize without cutting down salaries. "In none of the grades are the teachers overpaid," said Mr. Harrington, "and the grammar masters who are not worth what they are getting now—add there are a few of them—are not worth anything. The grammar masters who are not worth what they are getting now are utterly worthless and should be superseded by more capable men."

Mr. Harrington said he believed with Supt. Moley that substantial economies could be worked out by the school board if several of the schools in different parts of the city were consolidated, each teacher to receive the maximum number of pupils and the teachers whose services would not then be required, could be placed on the waiting list.

Mrs. M. W. Trull, president of the College club, spoke of the vital interest of that organization in the Lowell high school, due to the fact that the club is giving a scholarship to a high school pupil, who is doing then honor in one of the women's colleges.

Principal Cyrus W. Irish spoke of the crowded conditions in the high school, and asked the mayor if he realized what those conditions are. Mr. Murphy replied by asking why they did not cut the hall up into rooms. To this Mr. Irish said that the hall is already used for recitations, and by cutting it up not more than two more recitation rooms could be put in and other inconvenience would result.

Men give but little thought to the care of the hair. Not until the first bald spot appears do they really take notice. If your husband's hair is getting thin; if he has dandruff or itching scalp, take immediate action—do not let him become a bald head. Get from any drug or toilet counter a 50 cent bottle of Parisian Sage. The first application stops itching head and removes dandruff—the great hair destroyer. A little Parisian Sage rubbed well into the scalp for a few nights will work wonders. When the hair starts falling and the new growth appears a frequent use of this invigorating tonic is all that is needed to make the hair perfectly healthy, thick and beautiful. Surely try Parisian Sage. Always sold with agreement to refund your money if not satisfied. It's a delightful hair tonic for men and women.

REPORT ON THE INITIATIVE

City Clerk Flynn has submitted his certificate of insufficiency of the number of petitioners on the papers distributed by supporters of the Pillsbury site for a contagious hospital under the initiative provided for by the city charter. He also certifies that the number of names on the initiative papers is more than 10 per cent of the vote cast for mayor at the last election, but less than the 20 per cent required for the purpose of holding a special election.

Two days will be allowed the petitioners in which to file the necessary names and it is understood that the petitioners already have in reserve names sufficient to make the necessary 20 per cent.

AN ELECTRIC HIGH SCHOOL
Electricity from a government power house furnishes heat for the new high school at Rupert, Idaho, in the centre of the Minidoka irrigation project, according to a statement just issued by the United States bureau of education.
This is said to be the first case on record where a large building has been heated entirely by electricity. The use of electric current for heating and for a variety of other purposes in the new building has caused it to be known as
"The Electric High School."

The system of electric heating installed in the Rupert high school is remarkable for its simplicity. The cool arrangement of electric pipes, flues, etc., has been adhered to, but instead of furnaces or steam coils a battery of electric heat units, similar to those used in electric baking ovens, provides the heat. Twenty 18-K.W.
units are installed in pairs, each pair with a separate control of the current from a switchboard in the principal's office. Thus the principal can regulate absolutely the amount of current used.
An emergency switch in the principal's office may also be used to cut out all current from the entire building—heat, light, power, etc.

Electricity is put to work everywhere in the Rupert building. A 10-horsepower motor, besides driving the ventilating fan, supplies all the power needed for the lathes and saws in the manual training department. An electric water heater supplies the hot water for the domestic science department, for the shower baths, for the various laboratories, and for the science each girl of a class of 20 has her individual electric desk and all necessary cooking utensils. This room will also have an electric range and other electric equipment for serving, coffee-tea lunches on a large scale.

In the science laboratories electric hot plates are provided for evaporation purposes, and each pupil will have an electric appliance to take the place of Bunsen burners.

The electric lighting system includes an auditorium set with stage lights and switch control equal to those of the best theatres. The lighting and other equipment have been planned with the idea of making the high school building a model "community centre."

The entire electric equipment was planned by local electricians with the assistance of U. S. government engineers on the Minidoka project. The government supplies surplus current from its own power house 11 miles above Rupert, at a cost low enough to compete with coal. It is estimated that the cost of heating the new high school by electricity will be $1700 per year.
Coal might have been used at a cost of about $1000, but the use of electricity saves the wages of a fireman at $75 per month, and the cost of installing the electric system was $3000 less than for any other system of heat—the interest on this investment being saved annually. It is therefore believed that the use of electric heat in the Rupert high school, besides being a great convenience, will prove a real economy.

BATTLED FIRE IN BLOCK

Fire Department Fought Stubborn Fire in Centralville—Fireman Overcome

One of the most difficult fires the local firemen have had to battle for some time occurred last night in a tenement block in Essex street, West Centralville, and before the flames were extinguished one of the fire fighters was overcome by the thick smoke and had to be carried out by his companions. It was fortunate that the surrounding dwelling houses did not ignite, for the blaze was located on the top story of a nine-tenement house and in a portion of the building which the firemen reached with difficulty, and inasmuch as the flames broke through the windows and cracks of the wooden structure it was feared the fire would reach the other buildings.

One of the occupants of the building smelted smoke. In the hallway shortly after 8 o'clock and after investigating he found that the top floor was ablaze. He immediately sent in a telephone alarm, but when Chief Summers arrived on the scene he ordered an alarm pulled in from box 612 at the corner of Lakeview avenue and Fred street.

A few minutes later the fire apparatus arrived and several lines of hose were quickly laid. The rear part of the top floor had already been intently blackened, which had worked itself into the roof partition, a spot which the firemen had great difficulty in reaching. A thick black smoke caused by the burning of fresh paint filled the building and often the fire fighters were forced to come to the outside to breathe, and finally Dan Russell of the Protective was overcome and was taken outside by companions who rushed to his side when he dropped to the floor. The man was quickly revived and he continued his work. After two hours of hard labor the firemen got the flames under control, but not before a portion of the top floor was badly damaged.

The building is owned by M. Silverstein of Lawrence and for the past few days painters have been employed in painting the blinds which they had in the building. The fire started from an overhead stove in which a fire was left to dry paint. The room was filled with cans of paint, the fumes of which knocked out the firemen who got a whiff of it. The damage to the building as well as to the furniture of the several tenants is heavy.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE OPERA HOUSE

Bigger and bigger grows the business at the Opera House as audience after audience leaves the theatre to go out among their acquaintances and by enthusiastic praise, advertise the many merits of the all feature program that are being shown. Last night the S. H. O. sign was displayed early on account of the great number of people who wanted to see "The Battle of Waterloo," the five reel thriller, depicting the battle as it was fought one hundred years ago. This wonderful Famous Players' feature will be shown for the last time in this city today, together with "The Red Spiders," from the house of Warner. You can't be hitting it, but gripping Warner feature, it is a daring story of adventure, which will take you back and forth between New York and the mysterious Orient, where the king and queen of the Red Spiders—a notorious gang of international thieves—go to prey upon the unwary tourists. It takes a picked squad of New York bluecoats to run upon the unwary tourists. It takes a picked squad of New York bluecoats to run upon the unwary tourists. a tenseness that will hold you spell-bound throughout the entire three parts.

KITH'S THEATRE

In view of the fact that high class musical acts always meet with the approval of audiences at the K. F. Keith theatre, Manager Pickett, in selecting the Moneta Five to head the bill this week made a particularly happy choice. Three women and two men take part in the act and all are skillful musicians, playing a variety of instruments and using their voices to the best advantage in a pleasing repertoire of singing numbers. The act is called "Harmony at Home" and all numbers were well received at last evening's performance.

James J. Collins and Harry Seymour presenting "The Battle of Bay Rum," a musical travesty from the pen of an old time favorite comedian, also made a hit with the audience last night. The battle is certainly a hard one, but in it nobody is hurt, although in doing the burlesque, the scene of the act is in Manila bay, called Vanilla, and the ship, "Sandy Hook," is seen standing toward the city. The ship is named "Admiral Dack," played by James J. Collins, and the crew is comprised of the other members of the company. Harry Seymour, the scenery of the act is excellent and the work of the two men is very good.

"Waiting for a Car," a new comedy act offered by Hilton Laverne and Miss "Jo" Allen, brings out some very clever dancing and singing. The former is well over six feet in height, while his partner is much shorter. Laverne is one of the good natured fellows who offers to carry a grip for a young lady, but he does not attend to his business very well and then the comedy part comes in. The act is original and is sure to be well received during the present week.

London, Lucier and company are seen in an act called "Heaps of Humanity." Two men and a woman compose the company and they are versatile entertainers, opening with a selection of songs followed by modern dances and Mr. Allen and Miss Lucier are two of the liveliest characters seen on the vaudeville stage in this city for some time. Miss Lucier's grotesque dance is one of the treats of the bill.

Tom Mahoney, president of the Hod Carriers' union, has a lot of clever fun-making in his 15 minutes of character and songs. His cross fire comedy is very funny, while his list of songs shows originality.

Myrtle and Daisy, singers and dancers, are two young women who are sure to please, while the McAlvey Marvells, jump with their feet and do many other clever stunts. The bill is closed with the Pathe pictures and the numbers shown are new and very interesting.

PRESIDENT TO LIFT EMBARGO ON ARMS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—President Wilson has decided to lift the embargo on arms exported to Mexico.

A proclamation under the authority of the congressional resolution of 1912 which will restore the status of arms question by which Huerta forces and constitutionalists may import arms from the United States soon will be issued from the White House.

President Taft issued the proclamation which barred the exportation of arms to all sides on March 11, 1912. He did that under the authority of a joint congressional resolution which empowered the president of the United States to take such action whenever he should find that in any American country conditions of domestic violence exist that are promoted by the use of arms and munitions of war procured from the United States.

News of the action about to be taken by the president became known today through sources which have been constantly advised of the administration's policy in Mexico. It was also stated that the subject was discussed at the cabinet meeting today. There were in the room the official announcement of the administration's purpose would come from the White House later.

End of War in Sight

Constitutionalist agents in Washington learned of the development unofficially and declared that the end of the war was in sight.

The only word that came from the White House was that an important announcement would be made at five o'clock today.

White House officials declined to divulge its nature.

There is every reason to believe that under the authority of the joint resolution of March 4, 1912, President Wilson will continue to exercise discretionary power in issuing permits for the exportation of arms so that they may not fall into irresponsible hands.

So far as possible only the military chiefs on both sides in the Mexican revolt will obtain the munitions of war.

The president's decision was reached after many months of careful study of the arms problem and while in the first instance the belief of the administration was that the denial of arms was a humane act the conviction has grown upon the Washington government that its policy had operated inequally toward the warring factions.

Partiality, instead of neutrality, was the result of the policy in the opinion of the president and members of his cabinet who finally determined that the real neutral course would be to put both factions on an even footing.

Although General Villa and other constitutionalist chiefs have repeatedly declared that they had captured sufficient ammunition from the federal army and garrisons and that they felt well supplied the Washington government while realizing the important effect morally throughout Mexico that its not will produce is insistent that its position as neutral should be maintained.

While President Taft's proclamation was intended to stop exports of arms to the revolutionists who were hampering the Madero government, its terms still allowed the export of arms to the Madero government by permit.

When the Huerta government came into power it continued for a short time to import arms from the United States under the permits which had been issued to the Madero government, but that soon was stopped and the embargo has been complete for months, with the exception of occasional cases of smuggling.

ALDERMANIC VOTE ILLEGAL

Such is the Opinion of Reliable Authorities Who Assert That Complete Initiative Compels Submission at Special Election

The action of the municipal council this morning in attempting to defer until the next city election a vote upon the question of the purchase of the Pillsbury property for contagious hospital purposes is of course without the slightest legal validity. It does throw, however, an interesting sidelight on the alliance between some of the members of the present municipal council and a few Andover street reformers to the Pillsbury place and the desperate efforts to which they resort in the struggle they are making to prevent the voters having an opportunity to select a hospital location.

It appears that more than one thousand new names are ready for filing, and to prevent any possibility of a sufficient number of these added names not being in every respect sufficient to complete the required number, many more than the 536 required have been actually verified by comparison with the voters' lists and at the appropriate moment will be duly filed with the city clerk.

A prominent citizen who is intimate with the charter when asked as to the legality of the action taken today said:

Under provisions of Chap. 69 of the charter the language is clear and unmistakable that the petitions as first filed and examined, if containing less than twenty per cent of the names of the voters voting at the last preceding municipal election, may be supplemented at any time within ten days after the report of the city clerk by the filing of additional names. Therefore, the filing of the additional names at any time within ten days from date will compel the present municipal council to act upon the petitions as the charter requires, and if the Pillsbury property is not purchased by them a special municipal election must promptly result in regular course. The present municipal council has no more right to undertake to prevent a special election upon these petitions than it has to say that it will not maintain public schools or that it will not maintain a police department or that it will not in other respects comply with the mandatory requirements imposed upon city government by the legislature.

For some days past the reformers have been waiting around that they would defeat the initiative by some new scheme and apparently this vote to put it off till next December is what was meant. The municipal council is evidently allowing some sinister influences to lead it into a maze from which the members will find it difficult to retrace their steps when compelled by law to do so.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY IN HAMILTON MILL

Timothy Corcoran, aged about 42 years and residing at 63 Tyler street, died suddenly while at his work at the Hamilton mill this noon, the cause of death, it is believed, being heart disease.

Corcoran, who was employed in the dye house of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., worked all forenoon and was apparently in the best of health. At noon when he stopped work while waiting for his dinner he lay down on the floor. When the boy who brought his dinner-pail arrived he saw Mr. Corcoran lying on the floor, apparently asleep and made no efforts to awaken him, but instead he sat down and waited. At 12:35 some of the employees returned to their work and when they saw Corcoran they tried to arouse him, but without avail.

Believing the man was unconscious his companions sent in a hurried call for the ambulance, but upon the arrival of the doctor it was learned the man was dead. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Peter H. Savage, where it was viewed by Medical Examiner Joe V. Meigs. Deceased, who had been employed at the Hamilton dye works for about four years, is survived by a wife, who was later notified of the sad death of her husband.

"GRAFT, GRAFT, GRAFT"

"Whole Official Atmosphere Saturated," Shouted Sulzer in Urging Statewide Inquiry

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Rep. Sulzer made his maiden speech in the assembly today in support of a resolution to bring before the house a measure for a state-wide investigation.

"The whole official atmosphere is saturated with graft, graft, graft," shouted the deposed governor. "No man knows more of graft than I do. I have no hesitations of saying—and I know—that over $5,000,000 of the taxpayers' money was stolen in highway construction in 1912. So with the canal, so with the other state departments—pillage running into millions.

"We demand a state-wide probe. Let us separate the sheep from the goats. I know, with shame that men in high positions are now straining every nerve to cover up crime and protect men who ought to be in jail. My purpose before this session is over is to tell some truths that will shame the people of this state so far as William Sulzer is concerned."

Mr. Sulzer referred vaguely to "some one" whom he had "no hesitations in saying will take control of state affairs on Jan. 1 next," and conduct them as they should be.

At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Sulzer was asked to whom he referred in connection with the next governorship.

"Roosevelt, of course," was the answer.

The motion to take up the resolution was defeated after assurance by republican Leader Hiram that the whole matter of investigation probably would be settled tomorrow.

SMUGGLERS ARE GUILTY

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Lucius N. Littauer, a former congressman and William Littauer, his brother, both of Gloversville, N. Y., pleaded guilty in the federal district court today to conspiracy to smuggle jewelry into this country. Sentence was suspended.

For the last 40 years he had lived on the middle Dunstable road out from Nashua. Three sons, George, Charles and James, lived on the farm with him; another son, Hiram, lives at the north end of Hollis. A daughter also survives.

O'Connell and later to the home of her sister, 32 Chambers street. Deceased is survived by her husband, John Doyle; one son, Daniel P. Doyle; sister, Mrs. Bridge (McGuire) Connors; one brother, Peter Riley; two nephews, John McGuire of Organville, N. Y., and James McGuire of this city, and seven grandchildren.

The municipal council took rather drastic action at its meeting this morning in relation to the Pillsbury estate as a site for a contagious hospital by voting to refer the matter to the voters at the next annual city election. There is some difference of opinion, however, as to the legality of the council's action, the claim being made that the council has no discretion upon the filing of the initiative petition.

ANCIENT TEMPLE FOUND

Excavated at Quirigua in Guatemala—Ornaments Date Back to 6th Century A. D.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The original of the "Roosevelt smile" has been discovered in the ruins of Quirigua, in the republic of Guatemala, Central America, 57 miles from the Caribbean sea. The discovery is described by Sylvia Griswold Morley, in a communication to the National Geographic society at Washington, D. C. Quirigua, she says, was one of the older centers of the great Maya civilization, which flourished in southern Mexico, Guatemala, and northern Honduras during the first 15 centuries of the Christian era.

"Judging from the dated monuments which were erected in its several courts and plazas, this ancient American metropolis was abandoned during the first half of the 8th century A. D.," writes the explorer. "Towards the close of the 6th century the Mayas moved out from the older centers of their civilization in the south and migrated northward into Yucatan. Here in the stress of establishing a new and unfamiliar land the memory of their former homes gradually faded, until Quirigua, along with many another southern city, became only a memory, a tradition. Finally, long before the discovery of America, even the tradition of its former existence had passed from the minds of men."

"The exterior of one of the buildings recently unearthed," says Mr. Morley, "was decorated with a curious sculptural mosaic. This design, a variation of the humerus head motive found throughout the Maya area, occurs at each of the four corners and in the middle of the back and side walls."

"In this particular example," he continues, "the incised teeth are as prominent as Col. Roosevelt's, and the first visitors who saw the head immediately called it the original Roosevelt grin. Under this name its fame rapidly spread, until it became the chief point of tourist interest in the ancient city."

But for the enterprise of a well known corporation interested in fruit cultivation, the ruins might have remained uncovered for centuries more. The company purchased a large tract of land in this vicinity for a banana plantation, and through an arrangement with the School of American Archaeology, the systematic study of the ruins was undertaken. During the centuries that had elapsed since its abandonment, a dense tropical vegetation had covered the city, overthrowing its temples and palaces and reducing them to shapeless mounds of fallen masonry, writes Mr. Morley.

The jungle had won its way into the different courts and plazas; and these public squares, once teeming with the life of a populous community, had become the haunt of the tiger, peccary, monkey, ant-eater and the infinite host of the tropical forest. The jungle had again reclaimed its own. As the work of excavating proceeded there gradually developed from this mound of earth and fallen stone the ground plan of what had originally been an imposing temple, 105 feet long and 29 feet wide.

LOWELL RAISED $8,300

For St. Elizabeth's Hospital With Three Parishes Yet to be Heard From—Final Meeting

Two days before the official closing of the campaign conducted throughout the archdiocese to raise $200,000 for the new St. Elizabeth's hospital at Brighton, Lowell turned in the $5000 required as its share to the local campaign headquarters, 3 Russell building, and not only that but $1000 extra, so that with the personal contributions of Monsignor O'Brien of St. Patrick's and Dr. Keleher of St. Peter's, this city, will be credited with over $8,300 in the final summing up. The total collected will be sent by check to the campaign treasurer, Joseph H. O'Neil, Boston, today, and nothing collected from now until Wednesday evening, the official time of closing, will be sent in as a supplementary report.

Interest was keen at the meeting held last evening, as on the preceding day only one parish had reached its allotment, and there was quite a spirit of friendly rivalry. The parish representatives of the several committees were in almost all cases late in arriving as the work of the last day was unusually strenuous and money kept pouring in up to the last minute. When finally the priests in charge of the work began to make their report it became evident that the required amount and more had been reached. Except in the Immaculate Conception and Sacred Heart parishes, all the parishes that reported had reached their allotment, and the two that did not quite reach it felt confident of doing so before Wednesday evening. When the returns reached $4000, Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan, executive chairman, gave his personal contribution of $1000, and a check for the same amount was presented by the Oblates of Mary Immaculate of this city.

Parish Returns
The amounts collected up to date in the various parishes are as follows: St. Patrick's, $335; St. Michael's, $800.55; St. Peter's, $775; Sacred Heart, $563; Immaculate Conception, $412.25; St. Margaret's, $200; St. Louis, $200; St. Columba's, $160; Notre Dame de Lourdes, $63. This makes a full or partial report for all the parishes of the city with the exception of three that, by special arrangement, will make their contribution to Boston directly before Wednesday evening. Besides the contribution of Mr. O'Sullivan and the Oblate Fathers, there was also a contribution of $300 to the general city fund last evening from a friend.

Directors Grateful
The priests who directed the work throughout the city declared last evening that from the first there was the greatest enthusiasm in the cause and the responses were ready and generous. The most gratifying feature of the entire campaign was the readiness with which the poor contributed as from the beginning the sum collected daily was swelled considerably by the small subscriptions of those who could spare but little. The directors were also loud in praise of their collectors who did not spare themselves in putting Lowell in the creditable place it holds on the Boston list of parishes. A rising vote of thanks was given last evening to the contributors, the collectors, Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan and Dr. J. T. Donohue, who kindly gave the use of his office to the committee during the campaign and to the press.

Key Workers Busy In W. Central-ville—Jewelry and Money Stolen—Police at Work on Case

The police are trying to locate the party who broke into the house numbered 14 Fisher street, West Central-ville and got away with a gold ring and some money last Thursday afternoon, but thus far their efforts have been fruitless.

Thefts were committed in tenements occupied by Mrs. Stephen Racine and a Mrs. Rancourt and it is believed the thief gained an entrance by working the rear door with a key. Thursday afternoon the two women went out and

HOSPITAL MATTER POSTPONED

Continued

Dr. Francis R. Mahoney asking that the fire bells cease to ring at night and that other disturbing noises be eliminated for the benefit of persons sick at home or in hospitals, was referred to Commissioner Carmichael.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 11:30 with all members present.

Pole Locations

The first business before the meeting had to do with pole locations and wire attachments. The first petition was for a pole in Lewis and Jefferson streets. In this connection Commissioner Morse took occasion to remark that the appropriation for street lighting, $100,000, had been pushed over on his appropriation, the street department appropriation, making said appropriation look tremendously large and he had discovered, he said, that under the contract, not another light could be added. "I speak of this matter now," said Mr. Morse, "because I want to make the thing clear."

A petition asking that the name Carnum street be changed to Christian street was referred, as were other petitions and notices of personal injuries.

The petition of Edward E. Slatery for appointment as a constable was confirmed and the bond accepted. Commissioner Donnelly reported favorably on the petition of the Merrimack Mfg. Co., to keep and store gasoline, and the petition was granted.

The Contagious Hospital
Mayor Murphy read the communication and order having to do with the purchase of the Pillsbury estate as a contagious hospital in connection with the initiative petition and accompanying it was the report of City Clerk Flynn to the effect that there was still an insufficiency of names.

The mayor, at this point, called Commissioner Carmichael, president of the council, to the chair and the mayor took the floor to speak on the hospital question. "I believe it is unnecessary," he said, "for the city at this time to go to the expense of a city election which would cost anywhere from $2000 to $2500 and I move that the matter be referred to the next annual city election."

Com. Brown said that the council ought not to act too hastily in the matter; that the petitioners on the initiative had rights that should be regarded and respected and he doubted the right of the council to refer the matter to the next annual election. He moved as an amendment that the matter be referred to the city solicitor. The amendment was not seconded and the question then came on the original motion to refer the matter to the voters at the next annual election. The vote so to do was unanimous.

State Board of Health
On motion of Com. Carmichael it was voted to invite the state board of health to come to Lowell for the purpose of examining all of the sites that have been offered to the city, gratis and otherwise, for a contagious hospital. Com. Brown suggested that it would be a good idea for every member of the municipal council to accompany the state board on its tour of inspection and his brother members agreed with him.

Estimates for the Year
Commissioner Brown then presented formally, the estimates of the different departments for the year and in presenting the estimates, which will be attended to later, Mr. Brown submitted the following figures, showing that there is more money available this year than last year:

Available in 1909, at $12 on the $1000	$381,572.65
Department revenue	431,463.14
Total	$813,035.79
Available in 1910, at $12 on the $1000	$383,729.22
Department revenue	433,000.00
Total	$816,729.22
Available in 1911, at $12 on the $1000	$385,882.75
Department revenue	435,000.00
Total	$820,882.75
Available in 1912, at $12 on the $1000	$388,036.28
Department revenue	437,000.00
Total	$825,036.28
Available in 1913, at $12 on the $1000	$390,189.81
Department revenue	439,000.00
Total	$829,189.81
Available in 1914, at $12 on the $1000	$392,343.34
Department revenue	441,000.00
Total	$833,343.34

Commissioner Brown moved that the council proceed to ballot for a member of the board of health to succeed Dr. Brunelle. Commissioner Carmichael moved as an amendment that the matter be postponed until the next meeting. The mayor asked Mr. Brown if he wished to withdraw his motion and Mr. Brown said he would.

Lowell General Hospital
The following petition by members of the medical and surgical staff of the Lowell General hospital was read by the mayor and referred to the committee on streets and highways: Lowell General Hospital, Varnum avenue, Lowell.

The undersigned, members of the medical and surgical staff of the Lowell General hospital, respectfully request that the surface of Varnum avenue to the hospital and a part of Riverside street nearby, be put in order in a durable manner and at the earliest possible date.

(Signed) Drs. Edward O. Tabor, J. C. Gage, G. Forrest Martin, C. H. Leland, M. Jones, John H. Lamont, J. Vincent, Messrs. L. Leon Gage, Boyden Pillsbury, Archibald B. Gardner, Geo. A. Lehey, George L. Van Deusen, James B. Field, Howard W. Jewett.

Would Remove Assessors
Com. Brown gave notice to the council that at the next meeting he would move that the three principal assessors be removed from office. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen of the Council: I have been reliably informed that the members of the board of assessors have entirely ignored the members of this council and the action of this council in requesting the members of the board of assessors to extend an invitation to the tax commissioner of this commonwealth to make a thorough investigation of the assessors' office in order to bring about a more just and equitable assessment of taxes.

Instead of complying with the request of this council the members of the board of assessors, in the spirit that has dominated their office to the public detriment, went secretly to the state house to attempt to block any examination into their affairs, leaving the office for a day without any member of this high-salaried board in attendance upon their public duties.

The members of this board go and come from their office without regard to office hours and are devoting their time to other business than that for which they are receiving a splendid salary from the city treasury.

As a member of this board and as commissioner of finance I am fully convinced that the good of the public service demands a cleaning out of the assessors' office and at the next regular meeting of this council I shall move that Albert J. Dizon, Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan and Daniel F. Hogan be removed from office for the benefit of the public service and that their successors be elected by this council.

For Less Noise at Night
The following petition by Dr. Francis R. Mahoney, praying for more quiet at night, was read by the mayor and referred to Com. Carmichael:

To His Honor, the Mayor and Commissioners of the City of Lowell:

Respectfully represents the undersigned petitioner that the health of the city is being injured by the noise of the city at night. It is an important object of the legislative function, and to this end there should be forbidden all loud and disturbing noises occurring during the quiet of night when sleep is necessary to restore the energy expended during the day, and even more necessary in the case of those who are in the city at night in hospitals, battling for their lives.

The petitioner further represents that the ringing of bells, either during the hour or sounding the fire alarm, after 8 o'clock at night is unnecessary, disturbing and a positive danger to those seriously ill in the city at night. It is a matter of the head and heart and severity of times when such signaling was a necessity.

The undersigned, therefore, prays that an ordinance be created forbidding the ringing of bells and sounding of loud and disturbing noises during the quiet of night, until six in the morning, except in the emergencies of third alarm fire, police and military assembly signal.

3000 treatments are given in a year; those who can do so, pay the small sum of 20 cents for a surgical dressing, and get medicine at cost.

The hospital has a deficit of $2886.13 at the close of 1913.

Charges Very Low
Now, we believe that the hospital does a great deal of valuable and necessary work for the city, which it does free of charge and which would cost the city a large amount of money should it be obliged to make its own provisions for such work.

First, the cases which pay $7 per week, must be said to provide full compensation for the hospital, for the figures furnished by hospitals and even if those cases were self-supporting, there are some others which are treated as a work of charity.

In the second place, there are emergency cases which must be attended to without close consideration of a prospect of receiving compensation for them for it is not the intention of the hospital that it should refuse or withhold assistance at times when service is urgently and imperatively demanded.

It will be conceded by all who are even moderately informed that when financial assistance is given in every possible way, there could still be abundant opportunity for the hospital to do sufficient to do free and charitable work to justify its claim that it is a charitable institution, nor must it be supposed for a moment that the hospital is full or even nearly full running for full or even nearly full running for its work; the Sisters of Charity are desirous as ever of ministering to the wants of those who must appeal to charity. But it is not right that an excessive burden should be placed upon the management of the hospital in spite of the assistance which it is ever soliciting continually to face with a deficit.

The central location of the hospital and its ready accessibility make it the logical place to send a large part of the city's accident and emergency cases of the city and would be a distinct misfortune if such cases were, of necessity, to be taken to a more remote place for treatment.

Capacity of Hospital

While there is neither time nor place here to even attempt to correct either misapprehension or willful misrepresentation concerning St. John's hospital, it may be useful to set forth what the patient capacity of the hospital is and what the revenue can be if it were occupied to its full capacity.

Ward beds at $7 per week, 35 patients; single rooms at $19 each, 23 patients; single rooms at $15 each, 7 patients; single rooms at $9 each, two patients, and single rooms at $2 a week, two patients.

The per capita cost being estimated at $14 per week, one can easily compute how a hospital with 75 patients at an average of $10 per patient, can be made money, even if all its beds were occupied all of the time by patients who invariably paid for their care, a condition of affairs which any reasonable person knows to be highly impossible.

Let us see what a committee of practical men have recently prepared in connection with the administration of the new industrial accident law. A few weeks ago Chairman James B. Carroll of Springfield, appointed Dr. McCullom of the Boston City Hospital, Dr. Washburn of the Massachusetts General Hospital; Dr. Bowers, president of the Massachusetts Medical Society; Dr. Webster of Springfield; Dr. Stetson of Worcester; Dr. Hadden of Fall River; Dr. Egan of Lowell; Dr. Mahoney of St. John's hospital, Lowell, to secure facts and figures upon which to base a rating or so-called reasonable charges by hospitals in cases covered by this new industrial accident law, and they submitted a report which included the following facts and recommendations:

"That the average cost per capital per week per person was $16.82; average operating room charges, from $5 to $10; average X-ray charges from $5 to $10; that the loss in collections by hospitals, after the two weeks' limit, as allowed by law, averaged from 50 per cent. to 99 per cent. In conclusion, the report recommended that the fee for hospital care be $16 weekly of the operating room charges of $5. X-ray charges of $5 for simple cases, and $10 for difficult cases, while serum, special drug and special appliances should be charged at the ordinary hospital rate."

Now, if the opinion of these physicians and surgeons is entitled to any consideration, it must be clear to any person that even when St. John's hospital is paid $7 per week, the city is far below the standard set for hospital care that the hospital is in no danger of losing its reputation for charitable work by receiving pay at so low a rate. Mention was made above of the fact that during the past year 68 of the 122 cases were operated upon for each one of which the industrial schedule makes an allowance of $5; surely, no one will claim that $7 a week, where the industrial schedule allows $5 and no compensation where the same schedule makes additional allowance, can be set up as such complete compensation to the hospital that it removes the opportunity for charity.

Mention was made also that 122 of the accident cases had X-ray service, and the industrial schedule allows $5 for ordinary cases.

Imposing a Burden
Enough argument has been adduced to show that the city of Lowell is imposing a burden on the hospital which it should, in simple fairness and justice, make some reasonable return.

Under conditions as they now exist, the hospital is not unwilling to receive the city's cases at $7 a week, although that sum is far below the industrial schedule; the hospital is still anxious to do much for charity and humanity, but the extra work done by taking through the hospital open doors all kinds of accident and emergency cases, makes a burden which the hospital cannot bear, no matter how willing it may be to do so.

Notwithstanding the fact that citizens of Lowell have given of their generosity to an amount which has averaged for several years some $1200, the Sisters of Charity have been facing each year a deficit which, in the past year, amounted to $2886.13.

We believe that this is a fair and proper petition to present, that the city of Lowell continue to pay as it now does for its own charity cases, and make an additional contribution of at least $3000 to the hospital, to cover at least in part, for the extra work done by the hospital in emergency cases, work for which the city is abundantly able to pay, and would gladly pay if cities generally knew the facts in the case.

Given the city of the necessity of providing such service in a hospital of its own; justice and fairness make it a duty to meet such an obligation.

MURPHY ASKED TO QUIT

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Friends of Charles F. Murphy, whose retirement as leader of Tammany Hall is demanded in a resolution adopted last night by the National Democratic club, today announced their intention of appealing to the board of governors of the club on the ground that the resolution was illegal.

Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, denounced the action of Edward P. O'Dwyer, president of the club, in refusing to put the question to a rising vote, as "the worst instance of boss rule I ever saw."

The whole proceeding was illegal, Smith declared. It was also announced that another meeting of the club probably will be called and an attempt made to rescind the action taken last night or declare it illegal.

The club's by-laws forbid action on state or municipal politics.

The full membership of the club is 725. The board of governors consists of 24 men, most of them independent Democrats.

EXTEND B. & M. NOTES

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Announcement was made today that Vice President Hobbs of the Boston & Maine road would be at the office of the J. P. Morgan Co. today to arrange with local holders of the road's one year notes for an extension until June 12.

Ten million dollars of these notes fall due today and an additional $17,000,000 in June, at which time the road hopes to have a comprehensive plan formulated for financial reorganization. The greater part of the notes are held in New England, where a majority of the holders have announced their willingness to grant the extension asked for. The local banking office said that holders of the notes here would doubtless take similar action.

At the office of Morgan & Co., it was said that over 56 per cent of the holders of the notes falling due today had assented to the extension, including between $100,000 and $100,000 of notes whose holders were today in conference with the Boston & Maine representative at the Morgan banking house.

Just what the attitude of the railroad will be toward non-assenting noteholders could not be ascertained. It is known there is no money in the Boston & Maine treasury to meet the demands of noteholders who may refuse an extension of time and the bankers have already stated that they have no cash with which to meet such demands.

CREW OUT 12 HOURS PAID A BRIBE STEVENS GIRL MARRIED

LIFESAVERS AIDED DISABLED SCHOONER JANE PALMER AND SAVED ANOTHER

NAUTICALLY, Feb. 3.—It was a weary lot of lifesavers from the Coast Guard station that hauled their boat up at sunrise today after nearly 12 hours spent in aiding the disabled schooner Jane Palmer and saving the two-masted schooner Ida, which ran ashore on Great Point.

The crew was called out last night to assist the revenue cutter Ausonia, which had gone to the aid of the Palmer, after the latter had been in collision with the schooner Frontenac off the Haverhill lightship. After the Ausonia had taken the skipper of the Palmer to Vineyard Haven, the lifesavers helped the crew clear away the wreckage.

The lifesavers were about to haul their boat up at the station when the patrol on the west side of the point sighted the Ida heading directly for the beach. The patrol burned his signal but the schooner which had mistaken the light at Sankaty head for that at Great point at the entrance to this harbor, kept on and grounded upon the last of the 6th. With the rising tide and a shift in the breeze to the southward the lifesavers were able to help the crew in working the Ida off the beach and she reached here at daylight.

SHOT TO DEATH

Emissary Executed by Gen. Villa, Leader of Mexican Rebels

JUAREZ, Mex., Feb. 3.—Francisco I. Guzman, who figured prominently in the revolt against President Madero in Mexico City a year ago, was executed in the front yard of a house occupied by General Francisco Villa here yesterday.
Guzman had just come from Havana, where, it was charged, he had been given a secret mission by Felix Diaz to induce General Villa to renounce General Carranza and throw the strength of the revolution to Diaz.
As soon as he heard of the proposal, General Villa gave Guzman a conference and after making sure of the nature of the visit, ordered the messenger shot. Within a few minutes after his arrival Guzman was led out of Villa's room, stood up before an adobe wall, and, with his hands tied and eyes blindfolded, was executed.

BOSTON SCHOOL BOARD PLACES PART OF RESPONSIBILITY UPON SUBMASTERS

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Submasters are to share with masters the duties and responsibilities of school administration, according to an order passed by the school board last evening. The board also voted to close the evening schools March 30.

It was the opening of the new school board, Dr. David D. Scamell, succeeding Dr. Thomas F. Leen, whose term expired yesterday. For Dr. Scamell it was a return to familiar duties, as he served on the school board several years ago. George B. Brock was re-elected chairman and Michael H. Corcoran was elected treasurer.

The order relating to the submasters instructs the superintendent to request the master to ascertain what opportunities for initiative and responsibility they can give the submasters to develop their usefulness in the schools.

COUNTY TRUANT SCHOOL REPORT

Supt. Corlew Finds Attendance Falling Off and Wonders Why

New Methods of Teaching and Difficulty of Getting Out Explained

SUPT. RUFUS E. CORLEW

The report of the superintendent of the county training school calls attention to the dwindling attendance at the school, a condition that has come about since the death of former Supt. Warren. Supt. Corlew argues that the assumption that boys are kept too long is not true but that impression prevails not only in Cambridge but in Lowell. Mr. Corlew says:

"One of the most striking facts of the year is the marked reduction in the number of boys. This is largely due to the decided increase in the number leaving the school during the past year. In 1912, 62 boys were paroled or discharged. In 1913, this number was 113, or 66 more than the year before. This is also the largest number ever released during any one year in the history of the institution."

"In addition to this, the number of commitments has been fewer than in former years. In this particular the city of Cambridge furnishes the most extraordinary example. Not a boy has been committed from Cambridge since June 15, 1912, a little more than one year and a half."

There is a falling off in the attendance that shows the large institution with all its varied equipment almost unnecessary.

The attendance from Cambridge for some years past was as follows:
The record of the city of Cambridge furnishes the chief interest because of the sudden dropping off in commitments. Cambridge shows the following record of number of boys sent: 1900, 21; 1901, 19; 1902, 23; 1903, 24; 1904, 25; 1905, 22; 1906, 21; 1907, 20; 1908, 22; 1909, 14; 1910, 10; 1911, 14; 1912, 7; 1913, 0.

From Lowell
Lowell has always sent the largest number of boys to the school. In 1900 Lowell sent 33; in 1901, 35; 1902, 33; 1903, 26; 1904, 31; 1905, 40; 1906, 26; 1907, 40; 1908, 24; 1909, 19; 1910, 20; 1911, 19; 1912, 17; 1913, 20.

Present Attendance
The report shows that the number of boys at the school on January 1, 1913 was 175 and the number remaining on December 31, 1913 was 97.
Forty boys were committed during the year, six were returned for violation of parole and 33 runaways were returned. Those released on parole numbered 106; those discharged upon reaching the statutory age 101 were 12; transferred to Shirley school, 1; runaways not returned 4.

Have No Truants
The tabulation shows that in the period covered by the report, no boy was returned. Those released on parole numbered 106; those discharged upon reaching the statutory age 101 were 12; transferred to Shirley school, 1; runaways not returned 4.

Recommendations
Supt. Corlew also makes a number of recommendations for improvement at the school including the establishment of a physical director and of a summer swimming pool. He expresses his appreciation of the cooperation of both the Catholic and Protestant clergy at North Chelmsford in the religious training of the boys and also of the many friends who have aided in the maintaining and happiness and success of the school.

FIRE IN LODGING HOUSE 200,000 WOMEN REGISTER

Salvation Army Home at St. "Baby Stations," Where Mothers Could Leave Children Maintained by Suffrage Leaders

ST. JOHN, N. B., Feb. 3.—Several men, overcome by smoke, were carried unconscious from the burning Salvation Army lodging house at Prince William and Water streets early today. Many others among the 75 lodgers forced into the street lightly clad suffered severely from exposure. There was no loss of life. The seven-story building was destroyed, causing a loss of about $250,000.

FIRE IN BUSINESS SECTION OF PHILADELPHIA CAUSED LOSS OF $250,000

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—Fire early today destroyed the thirteenth factory of C. B. Porter & Co., Second street, above Arch, sweeping through to the paperbox factory of the Blake-Borough Paper Co., and attacking the wholesale grocery warehouse of William Butler & Co. The loss is $250,000.

MISFORTUNES OF BRITISH STEAMER CONTINUE WITH LIVELY FIRE IN STOREROOM

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—The misfortunes of the British steamer Catalone, which lost deck fittings and was delayed a week in her voyage from Spain, continued today with a lively fire in the storeroom. As the cargo was iron pyrites the damage was comparatively slight.

$1,000,000 DAMAGE TO 20,000 COTTON BALES BY FIRE AT HOUSTON, TEXAS

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 3.—Property damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000 was done at Clinton, Texas today when 15,000 and 20,000 bales of cotton were either consumed or badly damaged by fire.

FIRE DESTROYED UNION BANK AT DALTON, LOSS OVER $200,000

PITTSFIELD, Feb. 3.—Fire today destroyed the Union bank on Main street in Dalton with a loss of $200,000 and did $6000 damages to the Dalton block on Flansburg street. Dalton was without fire fighting apparatus of any consequence and aid was called from Pittsfield. Through the work of the Pittsfield firemen the Dalton block was saved from destruction. The origin of the fire is not known. All occupants of the block were fairly well covered by insurance. The buildings were owned by C. and W. Crane of Dalton.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Women registered today for the first time in Chicago preparatory to exercising their right of franchise at the spring elections. It is estimated that upward of 200,000 women will register. Acting as judges and clerks of election were seven hundred women.

NEWS OF LEGISLATURE

Signs of Activity in Debate Limit —N. England Railroad Problems to be Attacked—Other Matters

The record for previous registration in Chicago was 437,436. Plus the expected woman's registration and the additional men's registration this year's total should exceed 637,000. In the hope of getting a big registration of their sex as an argument for the further extension of the franchise.

nearly 50,000 women organized under political parties, non-partisan suffrage associations and women's clubs worked energetically.

"Baby stations," where mothers could leave their children while registering were maintained in several wards by suffrage leaders and political clubs while mothers who did not want to leave their babies at nurseries were supplied with a trained nurse who watched over her household while she went to register. Automobiles carrying nurses went to the homes of women reluctant to register and carried them and their children to the registration booths. While the mothers were registering the nurses cared for the babies.

The legislative committee on labor gave a hearing yesterday on the petition of Walter Ellison, secretary of the New Bedford Textile council, to establish 100 pounds as the maximum weight which women mill workers would be permitted to handle. Representative John Halliwell of New Bedford, John Waldron of the New Bedford Carders' association, Herbert Clark of the New Bedford Textile council, James Taney of the Fall River Carders' association and Representative Herbert Wing of Dartmouth were heard in favor. There was no opposition.

Corporation Counsel Joseph J. Corbett and Chairman John A. Sullivan of the finance commission urged before the committee on metropolitan affairs a bill to authorize Boston to send its mayor to other representatives to consider questions of municipal interest. They differed only as to the amount to be spent. The former thought $4000 a year about right and the latter favored $2500 as a maximum. Chairman Sullivan desires to include the school committee and the measure is to be redrafted. No opposition appeared.

Controversy over drainage in Malden and Melrose around Spot Pond brook was renewed yesterday by the report of special commissioners recommending a further allowance of $5000 for an expert opinion, with surveys and plans. Before the metropolitan affairs committee, J. T. Carr and Mayor Scoville of Malden opposed commissioning a survey between $200,000 and $300,000 for surveys, from which, they said, the city would not benefit.

Representative Eben F. Phillips, City Solicitor Davis, Mayor Monroe, President Victor A. Friend of the board of trade and William A. Terry of Melrose urged extension of the Middlesex railroad from Green street to Melrose to the Lynn roads.

Because of doubt as to the accuracy of the measurement of railroad mileage, upon which passenger fares are based, an exact scientific measurement of the mileage of the railroads of Massachusetts is to be made by the state department of weights and measures in cooperation with the public service commission.

Thanks to official supervision, a bushel is now usually a bushel, a pound is a pound and a yard of cloth is a yard. But constant patrons of passenger trains, especially those who travel on mileage books, have had grave doubts whether the mile of transportation, as paid for by them, was really a mile or something less. From time to time railroads have altered their computations of mileage between stations, though the stations have stayed in the same places, and the "elastic mile" has become almost a byword.

At the state house yesterday Thos. Hanson, state commissioner of weights and measures, held a conference on the subject with the public service commission and with passenger traffic representatives of the New Haven, Boston & Maine and Boston & Albany railroads, and the result of this conference was the decision for the official measurement.

Same bill 31, 33 and 35 Miles. Commissioner Hanson cited several instances to show the need of an official determination of mileage. Before the new Union station in Worcester was built, he said, the distance there from Boston was called 41 miles; now it is called 45 miles. He told, too, of a man who paid for 35 miles going from Boston to Marlboro, but for only 31 miles coming back, but was informed that after Feb. 1 the distance would be called 35 miles.

The method of measuring the mileage will be by an odometer set up in Commissioner Hanson's automobile, which will be fitted with flanged railroad wheels so that it will just fit the rails. Before the automobile is started out to measure all the 213 miles of first track in the state, however, it will be tried out on a carefully measured section of track on the Boston & Albany railroad.

Several practical questions of detail must first be settled. It is proposed to measure exactly the distance from the center of one station to the center of the next, etc., but the railroads want these measurements computed to the nearest hundredth of a mile, while the ordinary odometer registers only tenths. An effort will therefore be made to secure a more accurate instrument.

The railroad officials, too, wanted to know whether in the case of curves the outer or the inner track would be taken as the standard, since there is considerable difference. When there is a curve upwards and sideways, is the arc or the sector to be measured.

Sources of Error in Old Method. In the discussion of measurements for the state, it was pointed out that a variation of 90 degrees in temperature, as between summer and winter, affects the tape so as to cause a difference of three feet to a mile. Other errors might result from variation in tension in stretching the tape or failure to place the end of the tape on the very center of the line where the last 100-foot stretch ended.

A solution yet to be solved is the composition of the measuring party. The automobile holds only five. Inspector L. M. D. Marston will probably represent the weights and measures department, and there are also wanted a representative of the public service department, an official of the railroad and a member of its engineering department familiar with surveys. Then there will need to be a chauffeur or engineer to drive the car, and probably a train despatcher or traffic manager to steer the party through the road's train schedules. That makes six, with no allowance for reporters, and it was suggested that a new car may be required for the occasion.

After the measurement is made it is probable that the mile posts will be changed to their correct positions. It was pointed out that the Boston & Albany has suffered blame because, although the mileage was all changed when the road left the old Kneeland street terminal for the South station, the mile posts are still in their old places and do not agree.

The railroad men who attended the conference appeared satisfied with the plan outlined. With Commissioner Hanson and Inspector Marston there were Commissioners Macleod, White, Bishop and Stone, and for the railroad W. A. Barrows of the Boston & Albany, E. L. Wilson of the New Haven and L. P. Rowell of the Boston & Maine.

BIG ICE HARVEST

Quite as Abundant as Any for Past 10 Years — Says the Gage Co.

The housekeepers of this city need have little fear of a shortage of ice next summer for during the past few weeks a supply equal to any harvested during the past 10 years has been packed in the houses of the Gage Ice Co. on the banks of the Merrimack river and at South Chelmsford and early this morning a gang of over 200 men journeyed out to Forge Village and started to fill the ice houses there.

The plant located at Forge Village is the largest owned by the company and it is expected that it will be filled to its capacity in about 10 days, providing the weather remains favorable for ice cutting. The blocks are about 31 inches thick and the quality is equally as good as that harvested in Lowell and Chelmsford.

After about three hours spent in marking off the ice and making a runway from the marked space to the edge of the pond, the work of filling the houses was begun and at noon everything was going along at full swing. The most of the crew were employed in saving the ice into cakes and sending it along the runway although some men stationed inside of the houses at all times packing the blocks safely and covering them with sawdust so that the sun's rays cannot melt them.

The plant at Forge Village will hold in the vicinity of 50,000 tons and when this is gathered the Gage Co. will have an ample supply of ice. The 200 men are divided into groups and the work of each group is supervised by a foreman.

Henley's orch. Bathhouse, tonight.

"CLEAN UP" AT QUINCY

MAYOR MILLER CONTINUES TO PUSH BROOM—NAMES NEW TAX ASSESSORS

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Following close on the removal of Tax Assessors Stocker and Mitchell from office by Mayor Miller of Quincy yesterday, the mayor notified the city council at a regular meeting of that body, last evening, that he had filled the vacancies by the appointment of Thomas Swinburn and Eric G. Bergfors. These appointments will qualify before City Clerk Crane today, and with Gustav B. Bates, recently named chairman for three years, the new board will be complete and ready for business.

An entirely new board of health will enter upon its duties today. The appointments are John Reynolds, West Quincy physician, and Thomas H. Musgrave, clothing cutter, who resides in the Norfolk Downs district.

The mayor has remembered his campaign manager, Joseph B. Grossman, by making him registrar of voters for three years. Mr. Grossman is also receiving congratulations on his coming marriage to Miss Esther Lottman of Dorchester.

Ezekiel C. Sargent, who has held the office of city engineer under three previous administrations, was reappointed last night. City Clerk Crane and City Engineer Sargent are the only two out of more than a score of city officials retained, so the "clean up" of Quincy's city hall" by Mayor Miller, as promised during his political campaign, has been chiefly complete.

Fire Chief Frank Billings has reappointed the old district chiefs and announced the following company captains: James Mahon at Hough's Neck; John Dineen, West Quincy; Charles Anderson Wollaston; William Geary, Albion; and James Gallagher, Quincy Point.

QUICK DEATH

AFTER WEDDING

Wealthy New York Man of 78 Married Pretty

Girl of 28

And Died Three Hours

After—She Gets Half

His Estate

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Charles Wardwell Scofield, once a wealthy railroad builder, whose first wife, a beautiful adventuress, wrecked his happiness and his fortune, leaving him an impoverished, wretched old man, who, last Christmas, learned that $10,000 of an estate of $50,000 left by this woman in Los Angeles, Cal., was his, had happily bled his grief in his own home.

For a short time this man of 78 was happy in his room in the Hotel St. George, Brooklyn. He had just married Miss Jean W. Fitzsimmons, 28, with whom he was in love. Then, three hours later, while his bride sat at his bedside, there was a gasp, his body quivered and he was dead.

Immediately after learning that he had inherited money from his first wife, who was Miss Stowell, whom he had not seen for nearly 25 years, Mr. Scofield courted the pretty young Brooklyn woman and she accepted him. But she was a Roman Catholic and he the son of a Methodist minister. This caused delay. Further delay was caused by getting proof of his first wife's death.

About this time Mr. Scofield was taken down with pneumonia, and his physician saw his case was hopeless. Mr. Scofield's one wish was to make Miss Fitzsimmons his wife, so that she could inherit half of his property.

The dispensation came yesterday morning, and Mr. Scofield said there was no time to waste; that the ceremony must be performed without delay. He felt that he was dying.

A priest was called, and Mr. Wardwell, the nurse, Miss Gaylor, the physician, Miss Fitzsimmons and her brother and Mary Scofield, a daughter-in-law of the bridegroom, witnessed the ceremony.

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

Nine-tenths of All Stomach Trouble Said to Be Due to Acidity

A Physician's Advice on Cause and Cure

A famous physician whose successful researches into the cause and cure of stomach and intestinal diseases have earned for him an international reputation, said in the course of a recent lecture that nearly all intestinal troubles, as well as many diseases of the vital organs, were directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach which in turn was due nine times out of ten to excessive acidity, commonly termed sour stomach, or heartburn.

He pointed out that it is not the stomach itself as it would be for a man who stepped on a tack to rub the thumb on the foot without first removing the tack. Remove the tack, and the foot will feel itself—neutralize the acid and stomach troubles will disappear. It is interesting to note that a deranged condition of the stomach, as well as of the alimentary tract, is the cause of many of the most common ailments of the human body. The stomach is the source of the food, and the food is the source of the life. If the stomach is deranged, the food is not properly digested, and the life is endangered. The stomach is the source of the food, and the food is the source of the life. If the stomach is deranged, the food is not properly digested, and the life is endangered.

OUTDOOR ICE HOCKEY ON OTSEGO LAKE, NEW WINTER SPORT CENTER

A BATTLE FOR THE PUCK

The outdoor ice hockey season has been very active in New York state, particularly in the upper and central sections. The photo shows a game in progress on Otsego lake, New York, which has become a prominent center for winter sports under the encouragement of Garret J. Benson and other prominent citizens. The "glittering glass," as Otsego lake is called, and on the banks of which James Fenimore Cooper wrote his "Leather Stocking Tales," has become a rival of Lake Minnetonka, in the northwest, and of Orange and Saranac lakes, in New York state, for ice sport popularity. Several college games have been arranged to be played on Otsego lake this season.

Cong. Rogers' Complaint Attended to by Secretary of War

As a result of complaints made by Congressman John Jacob Rogers of this city about the ill-treatment of certain United States prisoners at Fort Leavenworth, several of the officers in authority there have been court-martialed and Secretary of War Garrison has notified the congressman that the matter has been thoroughly investigated. Some time ago Congressman Rogers informed Secretary of War Garrison that persons residing in this state had made complaints to him to the effect that certain relatives of theirs had been abused by the men in charge of the prison at this fort. He asked that the matter be attended to at once. Although the names of those said to have been ill-treated were not made public it is understood that they were former residents of this district.

LEAGUE GAMES COMPANY R WON

Several Good Ones Were Rolled on Local Alleys Last Night

There were several good games on the bowling alleys throughout the city last night, many of the different leagues being represented by at least two teams. The usual large crowd of Monday night rosters was on hand and the contests proved very interesting. In the Saco-Lowell league the Shop team easily defeated their opponents, the Drafting room employees, while the Shippers proved their superiority over the Office boys.

The Dodgers were beaten by the Bohemians on the Crescent alleys by the score of 1333 to 1354 and the U. S. Cartridge team defeated the Appleton team in the Manufacturers' league, the score being 1336 to 1350. The Bridge street alleys were also the scene of a close contest, the participants being the Merrimack Velvets and the Netherwoods, the former winning by the total of 68 pins.

"KING" COLE IN N. Y.

YANKEES EXPECT TO SIGN UP FORMER CUB HURLER WHO JOINED FEDERALS

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The local American league club officials hope to secure the signature of Leonard "King" Cole to a 1914 contract before night. The "King," who recently signed with the Federal league, came to this city last night and was in conference with President Frank Farrell of the Yankees for several hours. Cole announced he would definitely decline or accept Farrell's offer within 24 hours. Although the former Columbus club pitcher is enrolled with the Federals his contract with the new organization does not appear to be considered a bar in negotiating with the local club. Cole has virtually stated he will play with the club offering him the most money. Farrell claims that the New York club has prior right to Cole's services, having accepted his terms by telegraph before Cole signed with the Federals. The New York club is expected to outbid the Federals.

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN TO THIS STORY ABOUT DE FOREST'S SLUGGER

Hi there! Look out! Not for the locomotive, but for Jack Heenan, who is the new terror of the fight-game. Heenan is the original bear cat, according to his manager, Jimmy DeForest, and Jimmy also vouches for the statement that for breakfast the mauler enjoys nothing so much as three or four cobbles, well done on one side, with a few slips of carbolic acid as a chaser. This sounds a bit exaggerated, but DeForest has a nation wide reputation as a truth teller, and so we must take his word as to Heenan's qualities. Heenan hails from the stockyard section of Chicago. He weighs almost 200 pounds and has a heavy wallop in either hand. He can stand an immense amount of punishment, and DeForest will train him at his camp at Allentown, N. J., for a hard campaign leading up to a bout with Gusloat Smith. If anyone can make a champ out of Heenan, DeForest is the man who can turn the trick.

GIANTS NOTIFIED TO REPORT
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The New York National League club yesterday sent letters to all its players informing them when they should report. Christy Mathewson. The second squad, consisting of the regular players, will report March 1, while the players with Manager McGraw on the world tour will not report until March 12.

school building a model "community centre".

The entire electric equipment was planned by local electricians with the assistance of U. S. government engineers on the Minidoka project. This government supplies surplus current from its own power house 14 miles above Rupert, at a cost low enough to compete with coal. It is estimated that the cost of heating the new high school by electricity will be $1760 per year. Coal might have been used at a cost of about $1000, but the use of electricity saves the wages of a fireman at $75 per month, and the cost of installing the electric system was $3000 less than for any other system of heat—the interest on this investment being saved annually. It is therefore believed that the use of electric heat in the Rupert high school, besides being a great convenience, will prove a real economy.

JOHN J. FLAHERTY

Will be Admitted to the Massachusetts Bar on February 20

Mr. John J. Flaherty, clerk of the local license board, has been notified that he will be recommended for admission to the Massachusetts bar and will be duly admitted on the 20th instant.

Mr. Flaherty has been attending the Y. M. C. A. Law school in Boston during the past four years and is to be congratulated upon his success. While attending to his official duties as clerk, he has been studying law and this is the crowning triumph of his labors. Mr. Flaherty is a bright young man who will doubtless make his mark later.

Among the Lowell students now attending the Y. M. C. A. Law school is George M. Harrigan of the Lowell Trust company.

CURLEY AND FITZ AT WAR

Features of Mayor Curley's Inaugural

The old order, which I trust is happily ended, is largely responsible for our present tax rate and debt.

I recommend such legislation as will result in purchases through the supply department for every department, and that advantage be taken of seasonable purchasing and cash discounts.

A monthly conference on city planning, to be participated in by committees . . . is necessary.

It is not my purpose to criticize my predecessor in the office of mayor for the present financial condition of Boston, but it is my determination that the policy of discharging political debts through the mediumship of the city treasury shall cease.

The pay rolls . . . call for the exercise of economy and efficiency. The adoption of this system (recommendations for salary increases should be submitted in department estimates each November), coupled with general equalization of salaries, would result in the fullest possible measure of justice.

In my opinion a conference of engineers should be called to determine the most durable and economic material and method of street construction for the future.

The abolition of the parental school at West Roxbury and the correctional institution at Rainsford island . . . should be undertaken.

Medical experts today are unanimous in the opinion that drunkenness is a disease, and such being the case, for the protection of unfortunate thus afflicted, a system of segregation should be adopted.

The present system of holding primaries and elections for municipal office at a time when the weather is unusually severe . . . demands a change in date.
